New Georgia Senator

ATLANTA Ga. (AP) — David H. Gambrell, chairman of the Georgia Democratic party, was appointed Monday by Gov. Jimmy Carter to fill the unexpired term of Sen. Richard B. Russell.

Gambrell, Carter and other state officials planned to fly to Washington for swearing-in ceremonies Tuesday.

Russell, dean of the Senate and adviser to presidents, died Jan. 21 of chronic lung disabilities.

Gambrell, a stocky, dark-haired, adviser to Carter, was among those first mentioned in speculation about a successor.

Gambrell said he is now inclined to seek his own term in the Senate in 1972, after Russell's term expires.

Gambrell has refused to label himself as to his ideology, saying only that he is a "pragmatist."

He says his views on race likely will differ with those of Russell, who led the southern block in the Senate which opposed all civil rights legislation.

"The passage of time has changed a lot of things," said Gambrell.

"He (Russell) stayed firm where he was, but I think he'd expect a young person to have different views."

Ecuador-U.S. Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ecuador demanded Monday night the withdrawal from its territory of the United States military mission.

In a note signed by Ecuadorian foreign minister Jose Maria Ponce Yopez, Ecuador said the action was taken in retaliation for what it termed "coercive measures" adopted by the United States two weeks ago in the fishing rights conflict.

On Jan. 18, the United States announced suspension of military sales to Ecuador and threatened to suspend economic aid following a series of seizures of American fishing vessels.

Ponce Yopez described the action as "characteristic of the bitter imperialistic tradition of the United States."

Ponce Yopez, who is here for an Organization of American States meeting on ways to combat terrorism in the hemisphere, said the demand for withdrawal of the U.S. military mission was contained in a note given to the U.S. government at 6 p.m. Monday.

The Ecuadorian action came one day after a special meeting of OAS foreign ministers passed a resolution calling on the U.S. and Ecuador to work out their differences in the fishing rights dispute through negotiations.

Ecuador which claims a territorial limit of 200 miles from its coast, has seized and fined 17 American fishing vessels since Jan. 11. The U.S. position is that all waters beyond 12 miles are international territory.

This was the second time in the past 20 months that a United States military mission has been evicted from a Latin American country as a result of a fishing rights dispute.

Peru, which also claims a 200-mile limit, ousted the American military mission in May of 1969 following its seizure of several American vessels.

Mideast Cease-Fire

Egyptian warplanes flew over Israeli positions along the Suez Canal twice Monday just four days before the six-month cease-fire was due to expire.

It was the second overflight charge leveled against Egypt in 72 hours and the seventh time Israel has complained of such acts since the cease-fire went into effect last August.

A military spokesman in Tel Aviv claimed that Soviet-made MIG21s of Egypt's air force made the flights, but he did not say how many were involved or where they intruded. Nor did he say whether any shots were exchanged.

Israel lodged a complaint with the U.N. Truce Supervision Organization.

Observers in Tel Aviv believe Egypt makes the overflights, not only to observe Israeli fortification work, but also to keep Israel guessing about whether Cairo intends to resume fighting when the cease-fire ends Friday.

Berlin Traffic

BERLIN (AP) — Traffic on Berlin access ways returned to normal Monday but six days of East German harassment that resembled a semiblockade left heavy economic losses in its wake.

Trucking company spokesmen said it was by far the worst of the four periods of harassment dating to a year ago this month. A nontrucking source said losses could run as high as $1.6 million.

In Bonn, the West German Truckers Association said in a statement that trucking companies and their drivers no longer will assume the economic burden resulting from political pressure that affects them directly.

They demanded reimbursement and said that there could be uncontrollable consequences if something were not done.

Mayor Klaus Schuetz of West Berlin issued a statement saying he has personally requested Chancellor Willy Brandt, a former West Berlin mayor, to intercede for a reimbursement of losses incurred in January 1970, twice in December and now again.

Lunar Landing Given OK

Apollo Trouble Clears Up

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 14 astronauts flashed past the halfway point Monday of their quarter-million-mile voyage to the moon, with doubts dispelled that a peppy docking apparatus would block their lunar landing.

The spacemen, Alan B. Shepard Jr., Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa, awoke from a day-long sleep only a few hours after officials announced that a spacecraft docking problem had apparently cleared itself.

Mission Control engineers said the problem with a docking mechanism that failed to work properly Sunday had apparently worked itself out and space officials gave a go-ahead for Shepard and Mitchell to guide the Apollo 14 lunar module down into the forbidding Fra Mauro lunar highlands Friday.

Apollo 14 sped past the halfway point at 7:08 p.m. EST. The spacecraft was then 125,350 miles from both the earth and the moon, and was flying through space at about 3,200 miles per hour.

At 10:39 p.m. EST, the astronauts fired the power service propulsion rocket engine on the back of their spacecraft for 10 seconds. This increased their speed of flight by 48.6 m.p.h. hour and adjusted their time of arrival and altitude at the moon.

The course correction rocket firing will cause the spacecraft to go into an orbit 69 miles above the moon early Thursday morning. Without the rocket firing, the spacecraft would have curved around the back of the moon, 2,420 miles above its surface, and headed back toward earth.

The astronauts retired about 7:50 a.m. EST Monday morning after a difficult 19-hour day.

They awoke about 6 p.m. EST and reported they felt refreshed.

Although the world was kept in suspense on whether Apollo 14 would land on the moon, there apparently was no doubt in the astronauts' minds when they settled down for a 10-hour rest period early Monday.

At a news conference Monday, Mission Director Chester Lee firmly announced an extensive analysis of the docking mechanism uncovered no problem now but failed to explain why it did not operate properly Sunday. He said the mission would continue as planned.

"We're proceeding with every intention of making a full lunar landing mission," said Lee. "We can find nothing wrong with the (docking) probe. We are confident now that the docking probe is good."

The statement was made at a news conference Monday afternoon after engineers on the ground had spent all night examining models of the docking mechanism to try to find out why it failed to operate properly Sunday.

Laotian Generals Warn Of North Viet Buildup

SAIGON (AP) — Laotian generals reported Monday a buildup of North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao forces for possible attacks on important areas of northern and southern Laos.

U.S. bombers have been carrying out daily air attacks on the Ho Chi Minh trail in southern Laos in an effort to knock out a dry season resupply of enemy forces.

The Laotian reports came from the Defense Ministry in Vientiane and from a general who said that if the enemy attacks succeed, Laos' neutralist premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma, will be overthrown despite U.S. support for him.

The general declined the use of his name, a Vientiane dispatch said.

Military leaders would take over in Laos and continue fighting the Communist-led forces, the general asserted.

The Defense Ministry in Vientiane said the North Vietnamese are building up for offensive drives in both northern and southern Laos.

The chief ministry spokesman, Gen. Thong Phan Knoksy, said two regiments of the North Vietnamese 312th Division have returned to northern Laos after a six-month absence and are apparently preparing for an attack on Long Cheng, a U.S. Central Intelligence Agency installation southwest of the Plain of Jars.

Other military sources said the enemy may be preparing attacks on the Bolovens Plateau in southern Laos.

In Washington, a Defense Department spokesman reported a major movement of North Vietnamese troops down the Ho Chi Minh trail to Laos in recent weeks. Other Pentagon sources described the units as logistic troops and said they usually precede a buildup in preparation for combat operations.

With the reported enemy infiltration, the Pentagon has now revised its estimate of enemy troops in Laos to 65,000 or 70,000.

The Defense Department spokesman, Jerry W. Friedheim, refused to comment on what steps the allies might take to counter the buildup.

John B. Connally

Connally Denies Any Wrongdoing

WASHINGTON (AP) — John B. Connally Jr. denied Monday he violated the Texas Constitution by accepting at least $225,000 from a foundation while governor. He asked a new Senate hearing on his nomination as Treasury secretary so he can publicly rebut a story suggesting he did wrong.

The Finance Committee will reopen the hearing Tuesday.

Connally told Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, he earned fees as executor of the estate of Sid R. Richardson who died in 1969. Connally did not say how much.

He spread the fees over a 10-year period, Connally told Bennett, to minimize the tax impact. He said since his services occurred before he became governor he did not violate the constitutional prohibition on outside income from corporations or persons.

Bennett said he did not ask Connally the total amount received as executor. The senator said he assumed it was $75,000 a year. At 10 years, that would make Connally's fee $750,000 or about 1 per cent of the Richardson estate.

From all indications, after Tuesday's hearing, the Finance Committee will go into executive session, question Connally more about his finances and then vote overwhelmingly in favor of his nomination.

Connally took the offensive as senators began demanding answers to questions raised by a New York Times story Monday about the Sid R. Richardson Foundation's payment of $225,000 to Connally between 1966 and 1969.

The newspaper contended Connally had consistently denied, in answer to reporters' queries while he was governor, that he got compensation from anyone or any foundation or performed any services outside his job of governor.

At a two-hour, 25-minute Finance Committee hearing last Thursday, no one asked Connally about his ties to Richardson, a millionaire oilman who hired him in 1961 and whose estate he helped administer.

The Richardson Foundation got most of its $86 million in assets from the estate in 1962.

After reading the Times story, Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield suggested the committee might want to reopen its hearings.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who earlier sent his own investigators into Texas to probe Connally's finances, forth specific questions he wants Connally to answer before the Senate debates his nomination.

Proxmire said he wants to know if, as the story stated, Connally received compensation from the Richardson Foundation in 1966 which might have violated the Texas Constitution.

"These issues raise very serious questions," Proxmire wrote Sen. Russell Long, D-La., chairman of the Finance Committee, who already has said he will vote to approve Connally.

Report U.S., South Viet Troops Massing Near Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George Aiken quoted the State Department Monday as saying U.S. and South Vietnamese troops have been massing on the Laotian border "for a large operation we might be undertaking."

Aiken said he was assured no U.S. soldiers would cross into Laos.

Aiken, senior Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he was told of the troop buildup Friday, but said the mystery operation has been shrouded since by what he called "the tightest censorship since World War II."

In Moscow, Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin was quoted by Tass as saying "an outrageous invasion of the southern provinces of Laos is under way."

The Soviet news agency quoted the government newspaper Izvestia as saying an invasion of Laos had been carried out by South Vietnamese.

Aiken's statement was the first U.S. acknowledgement by an American official that a massive offensive in northwestern South Vietnam might be under way.

The Vermont senator's report was followed by Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott's statement that no U.S. troops would be allowed to cross the South Vietnamese border.

At news conferences Monday, State and Defense Department spokesmen refused to discuss the possibility of such an operation, rumored in Saigon for several days.

Sub-Zero Temperatures Prevail In Many Parts Of The Country

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

February brought bitter cold to an area from the Continental Divide to the Atlantic Seaboard on Monday with subzero temperatures in 20 states and new power outcrops in some areas.

Service on the Pennsylvania-New Jersey-Maryland Interconnecting power grid was reduced 5 per cent due to a 25 per cent reduction in the capacity of the central power transmission source for the three states and Delaware.

A spokesman for the Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. said the reduction was caused by an "Unusually high demand for electric service."

In New York City, Consolidated Edison Co. again reduced voltage by 5 per cent, the fifth time this year it took such action.

The subzero temperatures extended from Montana and Nebraska to West Virginia and came on the heels of a January that was, in some states, one of the coldest on record.

Nebraska was hit by its heaviest snows since 1963 and Omaha reported its January average monthly temperature was 17.8 degrees, 4.5 degrees lower than usual.

Phoenix had an unusual month for weather. The first third of January was cold and for a record six consecutive days the temperature dropped to 28. The Jan. 7 low of 19 was the record for any January, but the mercury climbed to 88 on Jan. 9 a record January high.

Los Angeles had two weeks of record readings in the 80s and 90s.

Washington reported snow conditions in the Cascade Mountains were the worst in 30 years. Heavy snows up to the weekend of Jan. 25 resulted in an avalanche at Yodelin ski resort in Stevens Pass. Four persons were killed.

The weather shifted and Washington weather problems have changed from slides to floods. The swollen Chehalis River caused the worst flood in 30 years at Chehalis and Aberdeen on Jan. 28.

Promises Prosperity By Mid-1972

Nixon Pledges To Cut Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon pledged to Congress Monday to cut inflation sharply, scale down high unemployment, and bring economic prosperity to the nation by mid-1972.

He said his administration would achieve these goals with a great economic leap forward this year and with an attack on inflationary forces in the economy without turning to wage-price controls.

"I intend to use all the effective and legitimate powers of government to unleash and strengthen those forces of the free market that hold prices down," Nixon said in his annual economic message.

He promised—with cooperation from the private sector—to bring "full prosperity without war, full prosperity without inflation."

The 1972 targets, set out by his Council of Economic Advisers in the report, are these:

—An unemployment rate "in the 4½ per cent zone." Nixon earlier had set a goal of reaching full employment, defined as 4 per cent joblessness, by mid-1972. Unemployment in 1970 started at 3½ per cent of the work force and wound up at 6 per cent.

—An inflation rate that is "declining to approach the 3 per cent range," as measured by the price-rise yardstick of the Gross National Product. In 1970, inflation by GNP standards reached 5½ per cent, highest in 19 years.

—A tremendous $88-billion leap in output of goods and services in 1971, bringing the GNP up to $1,065 trillion, a figure higher than many economists have predicted.

Nixon coupled his forecast with his strongest rejection of wage-price controls or guidelines to date.

He asserted.

"Neither do I intend to rely upon an elaborate facade that seems to be wage and price control but is not."

As to what he will do to check rising wages and prices, Nixon pointed his finger to the past.

He noted that he tried to bring down oil, lumber, copper and steel prices by increasing—or threatening to increase—their supply in the marketplace.

And he pointed to his call for labor and management in the construction industry to come up with a voluntary plan to hold down wages and prices. That call was made under the threat of government intervention.

"The key to economic policy in 1971 is orderly expansion," Nixon said. "While continuing to reduce the rate of inflation, total spending and total output should rise as rapidly as possible to lift the economy to full employment and full production."

He said his policies of fiscal restraint in 1969 and 1970 "have set in motion strenuous efforts to cost reduction. These actions, as the pace of the economy quickens, will bear fruit in better productivity and costs."

Editorial Comment

Focus On Revenue Sharing

In his State of the Union message President Nixon, observing that we have "gone through a long, dark night of the American spirit," offered this visionary thought: "But now that night is ending. Now we must let our spirits soar again. Now we are ready for the lift of a driving dream..."

He then proceeded to outline a generously forward-looking program for advances in the areas of health, welfare and the environment. He also proposed a major Cabinet-level reorganization which in his view would greatly improve the federal government's ability to deal promptly and effectively with domestic problems as they arise.

Reaction to the President's speech has for the most part, however, been focused less on these aspects of it than on his plan to share federal revenue with the states. It is this that has aroused the greatest extremes of approval and opposition. That is not surprising. The revenue sharing plan touches upon a fundamental and highly controversial point about how our system operates—the question as to the proper federal-state division of power and responsibility.

For a long time there has been complaint that the federal government was getting too big and powerful, with a corresponding decline in the authority of the states. Not only conservatives, but a growing number of liberals, have felt this and expressed a wish that the trend could be reversed. Many see President Nixon's revenue-sharing proposal as a move in this direction. He himself alluded to this, declaring that his plan would "put the power to spend where the people are."

Some who accept the underlying concept as theoretically sound may yet feel practical misgivings about it. Valid questions may be raised as to whether state governments, some of which have rather a poor track record in this regard, would do better than Washington at spending money wisely in the public interest. Influential members of Congress have expressed doubts, too, about the propriety of assigning the federal government the role of tax collector for the states.

Then one gets to the gut question: Where is the money for revenue sharing to come from? Is it to be taken from existing programs? Will revenue sharing turn out, in the end, to be nothing more than a juggling of available resources? No wonder this plan has been the focal point of critical interest and comment.

On The Wrong Side

To the military eye, Greece looks good because of its strategic value. To the eye of one committed to the ideals of democracy and political justice, Greece looks rotten.

It was the military view that prevailed when, last September, the United States government announced that it would resume shipment of heavy weapons to Greece. Arms shipments had been sharply restricted following seizure of the Greek government by a junta of army colonels in April, 1967. The lifting of the arms embargo last fall was a victory for the Pentagon, a defeat for those prepared to give up some strategic advantage for the sake of fostering democratic rule.

There is, however, some basis for thinking the State Department went along with the resumption of arms shipments in the belief that Athens meant to move toward democracy. A State Department spokesman said at the time that "the trend toward a constitutional order is established." Recent dispatches indicate that U.S. Ambassador Henry Tasca had some reason to believe this—had indeed been given a promise along these lines by the Papadopoulos government.

Premier George Papadopoulos was back at the promising game in a speech at year's end, when he intimated that political prisoners would be freed by May. Events since then have been less heartening: further arrests suggest that there is not a very lively prospect for amnesty.

Meanwhile, the United States continues to ship arms to a repressive Greek government which seems to have little intention of giving back any of the powers and rights it has taken from the people. We are on the wrong side of the fence.

Ho Chi Minh Trail Most Important U.S. Objective

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The Ho Chi Minh trail in southern Laos has become the most important objective of the United States in Indochina. Most of the American air power in Southeast Asia is now concentrated on it.

By choking off North Vietnamese supplies and troops moving southward along the trail, the United States hopes to buy time for the Vietnamization program and to reduce Hanoi's capabilities for waging war.

Military sources said present plans call for the withdrawal of the remaining 30 U.S. Air Force squadrons from South Vietnam by the end of 1972. The success of Phase 2 of the Vietnamization program, the turning over of air, logistics and other support activities to the South Vietnamese, depends in part on the success of the bombing campaign along the Ho Chi Minh trail, the sources added.

This is the second major campaign since last May aimed at speeding the withdrawal of American forces from Indochina.

na. The first was a ground campaign—the allied incursion into Cambodia last spring to destroy North Vietnamese and Viet Cong base camps and sanctuaries.

Sources said the Cambodian campaign was highly successful. With the Cambodian port of Kompong Som on the Gulf of Siam closed to the enemy after the overthrow of Prince Norodom Sihanouk last March 18, Hanoi had only one alternative for moving war materials southward. This is the Ho Chi Minh trail.

Although it is called the Ho Chi Minh trail, it actually is a series of trails—dirt roads and river crossings that stretch at least 30 miles wide and cover a 6,000-mile network. Much of the network is covered by jungles. It reaches southward 200 to 300 miles into Cambodia and South Vietnam.

The Ho Chi Minh trail is so complex that trucks can disappear suddenly. One Air Force officer described it as a "spider web and another spider web lying on top of it and another and another."

There are between 1,250 and 1,700 places on the trail for use as truck parks and storage areas.

A single truck rarely ever makes the full run. Rather the run is a system of transfers from point to point, using trucks, oxcarts and human hands. Some supplies are put in barges and barrels and floated down streams.

Informants said B52 strategic bombers, each of which carry up to 30 tons of bombs, make it difficult for the North Vietnamese to travel through the day, thus necessitating a system of relays to allow movement by night.

U.S. fighter-bombers roam over the trail and the B52 strategic bombers hammer the enemy points from North Vietnam day and night.

Still many supplies get through. No one knows for sure the amount destroyed.

"It is essentially a jungle, a lot of mountains, a lot of places to hide in caves and ravines," said one officer. "There are an inordinate amount of roads and alternate roads. Trying to hit a barrel in the water is not the easiest thing in the world."

The sources said the pilots have claimed knocking out more than 1,000 trucks so far this month.

The Global View

Red China Spurns Soviet Olive Twig

By LEON DENNEN
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (NEA) — Their ideological dander up, the Russians have resumed their propaganda campaign against Communist China.

The latest war of words was deliberately provoked by the Chinese. Ever ready to exploit trouble in the Red world, Peking blamed the Kremlin "revisionists" and their puppets for the recent Polish strikes and riots.

Moscow's Pravda, in a sharp editorial, accused Peking of siding with the "imperialists" and seeking ways to deepen division among Marxist-Leninists.

Pravda's attack followed a Radio Moscow broadcast which disclosed that the Kremlin offered China participation with "equal status" in an Asian security pact. Soviet party chief Leonid Brezhnev has been pushing such a pact since 1969.

However, Peking's "ungrateful" leaders "concealed" the proposal from the Chinese people, Radio Moscow complained. "Mao Tse-tung and his clique did not adopt a serious attitude" to Brezhnev's offer and labeled it "anti-Chinese and anti-Communist."

After more than a year of negotiations, the Russians finally acknowledged their failure to reach agreement with Peking on minor border problems.

Thus, the world Communist movement remains riven by the conflict of the two giants, with little prospect of a compromise. Behind the ideological quarrel lie geopolitical problems arising out of Chinese claims to large tracts of the Soviet Far East taken by Russian czars from the Manchus.

President Nixon's advisers, in search of a clue to Moscow's current policy, are now giving some extra time to reexamining Russia's relations with China.

In their view, Soviet policy in the Middle East and Berlin will depend in a large measure on the intensity of the Kremlin's conflict with Mao Tse-tung.

For Brezhnev, who is fighting for his political life, an agreement with the Chinese would have been a "positive achievement" to present to the crucial 24th congress of the Russian Communist Party now scheduled for March.

But Mao refused to play Brezhnev's game. Instead, the Chinese stepped up anti-Russian activities in Asia, Africa and the Middle East. They also decided to mend their diplomatic fences in the West.

There is little doubt that, in their confrontations with the Chinese, the Russians have latterly suffered some setbacks in Indochina and the Middle East.

The Southeast Asian "United Front" of North Vietnam and the Communists of Cambodia, Laos and South Vietnam—formed in Peking in April, 1970—is now firmly in China's orbit.

In the Middle East, radical guerrilla groups have long been fired by Mao's ideas. Now more influential groups are lining up behind China. Political instability in the Arab world following President Nasser's death has brought to the fore in Syria and Iraq men inclined to take their lead from Peking rather than Moscow.

But it is China's growing ties with the West that really frightens the suspicious Russians.

Britain and France have long had diplomatic relations with Red China. In 1970, Canada, Italy, Belgium, Austria and Luxembourg—in addition to Guinea in Africa and pro-Com-

Ann Landers:

Luckier Than Most

Dear Ann Landers: I was hit hard by that letter about the little seven-year-old girl who climbs on men's laps and behaves in an aggressively affectionate manner. I was that little girl 20 years ago. To this day I can hear my mother say, "Isn't it cute the way Sherry goes for the men? She doesn't care for women at all!"

You were right in your answer, Ann. The reason the little girl craves male affection is because her own father ignored her. I know, because my dad was like that. He never once let me sit on his lap. I cannot recall that he ever kissed me.

Do you know what happens to little girls with cold fathers who reject them? They see "daddy" in every male who pays them the slightest attention. As teen-agers they are push-overs for heels, swingers and lecherous old men who like young flesh.

I lived through it all but I was luckier than most. I met a wonderful man who understood my problem and helped me get well. (Yes, it is a sickness.) We have a wonderful marriage now and I consider myself extremely fortunate. I hope the little girl in the letter is as lucky as I was. I will pray for her.—Sherry of Boise

Dear Sherry: Thank you for a touching letter. I hope the unaffected fathers out there who have little girls, will read it and do some soul-searching.

Dear Ann Landers: If I am wallowing in self-pity, please kick me in the bloomers. If I have a right to complain, say so.

I have been married 15 years to a man who works hard, pays the bills on time, is a good father and has never been known to lose his temper. He tells me I am a fine wife and a wonderful person. Should I be satisfied? Well—here's the rest of it.

From the day we married I have been alone on Thanksgiving, New Year's, my birthday, his birthday, the children's birthdays, Mother's Day, our anniversary, and every holiday that gives a man a day off from work. The reason I am alone so much is because my husband is a fisherman, a hunter, a bowler, a swimmer, a surfer, a skater and a card player. In other words he's interested in everything but staying home with his family.

Do I have the right to say something?—A Married Widow in Saginaw

Dear Sag: Of course, you do, but I have a hunch it won't do any good at this late date. The time to have "said something" was 15 years ago.

You don't mention whether you enjoy any of these activities. I see in your list many things the family could do together. Is this possible? Explore the prospects and it might produce a partial solution.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 30. My fiancé is 21. We are planning to be married soon and I need an answer to a question. J and I had a talk last week and he confessed he has always wanted to be married in a purple sequin jacket. I told him I'd have to think it over. The next day I discussed it with my mother. She said it was all right with her, if the minister didn't object. So I asked the minister. He said he didn't see any reason why my fiancé couldn't get married in a purple sequin jacket if he wanted to, since grooms are wearing all sorts of off-beat outfits these days. (Brides, too.)

When I told J, he replied, "I've changed my mind. I would take the attention away from you." This was very sweet but now I feel guilty—knowing how much it meant to him. Should I insist?—Ontario Bride Dear On: No. Let it be. If there's anything a bride doesn't need, it's a groom in a purple sequin jacket.

Thoughts

My son, be attentive to my words; incline your ears to my sayings. Take heed to the path of your feet, then all your ways will be sure.—Proverbs 4:20, 25.

Life is something like this trumpet. If you don't put anything in it, you don't get anything out, and that's the truth.—William C. Handy, jazz musician.

Jim: "The false-card play is the play of a high card when you can just as well play a lower one. Most false cards are useless, but there are occasions when it's your only chance."

Oswald: "There are a few situations where a false-card can win and can't lose for you. We might call those plays automatic false-cards."

Jim: "South lets West hold the first two spades but has to win the third one. He discards a club from dummy and East drops a heart. In spite of 37 high-card points in the two hands, things don't look promising. South can count only seven top-card tricks. He can get to nine by playing clubs, provided East holds both honors, but South decides to go after diamonds. He leads a diamond toward dummy and fineses the jack. When it holds, South is up to eight tricks. He cashes dummy's ace of diamonds."

Oswald: "Here is the spot for the automatic false-card. If West plays the ten of diamonds, South will make his contract. South knows West has the queen. If West false-plays with the queen, South will have a real problem. He won't know whether to play East for both missing diamonds or play that the suit will divide 3-3."

Jim: "He will probably play out three rounds of hearts. West will shed a spade on that third heart and South will know that West started with six spades, two hearts and five minor-suit cards."

Oswald: "He will probably try to drop the ten but he may not. West's false card has given him a problem and no one solves all bridge problems."

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Deforming Rheumatoid Arthritis
Effects Extend Beyond Joints

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb—I am a 30-year-old female who has just been told I have rheumatoid arthritis in my feet and hands. Would you explain what rheumatoid arthritis is and what help is available?

Dear Reader — Rheumatoid arthritis is an inflammation of the joints that causes swelling. A joint isn't just a junction of two bones. The ends of the bones are enclosed in a membrane or capsule filled with fluid. We call this the joint space. Tips of the bones within the joint space are covered with cartilage. Rheumatoid arthritis causes inflammation of the entire joint space, causing pain and swelling of the joint. As the inflammation progresses, it damages the cartilage and destroys the normal joint structure, leading to major deformities. The range of motion of the bones involved in the inflamed joint may be limited, causing an individual to be disabled. Rheumatoid arthritis should not be confused with degenerative arthritis which is usually related to wear and tear associated with increasing age. Rheumatoid arthritis is fairly common and occurs often in young adults. The average age at onset is 35 years. It is three times as common in women as in men. About five million people in the United States have this problem and it occurs throughout the world. Rheumatoid arthritis affects the whole body, not just the joints. Often it begins subtly as mild attacks of fatigue and stiffness and soreness. These episodes may go away and then recur, gradually becoming more severe. The swelling becomes more persistent. There may be nodules near the joints. Fever is common and an anemia may occur.

The disease often has remissions for long periods of time. This makes it difficult to be certain that any treatment was useful or if the remission would have occurred spontaneously.

Your doctor can use special tests to confirm the presence of the rheumatoid activity.

We really don't know what causes the disease but the best bets are that it is a reaction to a virus or a complex allergic reaction of the body to an infection and its own immune mechanism.

I'll discuss another day a lot of important aspects of treatment. One of the most important is the correct use of simple aspirin. In most people aspirin is as effective as or better than any other medicine. It takes a lot more than required to relieve a simple headache. The goal is not just to relieve pain. The large doses of aspirin diminish or control the inflammation. This is very important since the inflammation is what causes destruction of the joint. A person being treated with large doses of aspirin must continue the doctor's recommendation even after the pain is relieved. ONLY YOUR DOCTOR can determine how much aspirin you should take if you are going to be treated with it or a related medicine.

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Pity Ma, Awash In Holidays

When the law was passed in 1968 to create long weekend holidays, some of our congressmen said, "By passing this legislation we will become the working girl's friends for life." All I want to know is, what about the working mother? Doesn't anybody want to be her friend? And, by "working

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

By STELLA WILDER

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 2 — Born today, you have an extremely active imagination and are somewhat inclined to dramatize any situation or circumstance that arises. Because things sometimes assume for you an importance which they do not actually have, you need to guard against making the kinds of errors which result from decisions based upon false premises. Indeed, you will have to take care that you don't fall victim to the false pictures you build in your mind. The real picture may be much better.

Although an early marriage is indicated, you will not be one to settle down easily and quickly to domestic bliss. You enjoy being on the go, seeing new places, meeting new people, experimenting with new activities, new schedules, and so on. Routine is definitely not your cup of tea. For this reason it is especially important that the mate you select be adaptable to whatever mood you bring to bear upon the household.

A person of tremendous energy and enterprise, you will no doubt have the opportunity to achieve tremendous success in your career. Whether you choose to take advantage of such opportunity is, however, another story entirely. For it may be that you will choose the life of a big fish in a small pond for security reasons and never know the heights to which you could climb.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Wednesday, February 3 — AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Take the bull by the horns. Organize your information and strike out at once to put into action a formal plan.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21) — Today's schedule requires exceptional drive if it is to be completed successfully. Seek inspiration in strange places.

ARIES (March 22-April 20) — Social contacts made this morning can stand you in excellent stead this evening. Don't hesitate to speak your piece if called upon.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — So long as your personal interests don't interfere with your schedule on the employment scene, indulge them at will.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Domestic harmony may well improve through your recent decision to act. If not, you may look upon that decision as erroneous.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — Begin early in the day to work toward a single goal. The wise Cancer will let routine matters go until another time and place.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Important issues must be acted upon at once. To waste the morning on trivia may be to lose out on a matter vital to your career.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Plan for an evening of light entertainment in the midst of family and friends. Afternoon's hard work deserves time off late in the day.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — You should be able to take on any and all competition this morning. Exert your mental energies to the fullest.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) — Pressing business or professional problems require your immediate attention. Iron out difficulties with a friend.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — The early bird catches more than a worm this morning! Know which side your bread is buttered on—and act accordingly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Accomplish your best work during early morning hours. To avoid late-day letdown, taper off toward evening.

down that cherry tree happened to be.
But to think of facing a million valentines, a paper mache log cabin, several silhouettes, and a log and hatchet carved from soap all in ONE DAY is too much, dear congressmen, altogether TOO MUCH.

CLOTHES CARE TODAY
By RUTH E. HOWARD

Certain colors are more or less becoming to one's individual complexion and hair color than others, but unless you are a flaming redhead, there are no absolute taboos for the majority. Most people have acquired in childhood preconceived ideas as to what colors they can and cannot wear, and they sometimes deprive themselves of many highly flattering shades simply because they refuse to try them. The other day I saw a customer with very dark hair and a rather tired, swarthy complexion, who looked perfectly lovely in a mustard-colored dress, which theoretically should have been disastrous for her.

When you are very suntanned, it is better to avoid wearing black and navy; on the other hand, brown is often particularly becoming. It is also generally true that pastel colors are less trying for the complexion than bright shades, and women beyond a certain age are usually much more beautiful in white, skyblue, pink, pale gray and beige than in black or brown.

Red is almost always flattering and has a cheering effect on the morale as well; the same is true of sky blue, which is becoming to all kinds of complexions, all shades of hair, and all ages.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One of the last movie star holdouts makes her debut as a TV entertainer tonight—Rita Hayworth. She'll clown on the Carol Burnett Show and even sing—with her own voice.

"Harry Cohn would never let me sing in pictures," said the actress, who was under contract to Cohn at Columbia during her heyday in the 1940s and 1950s.

"Harry always liked that big bang sound in his musicals, and he claimed my voice wasn't loud enough. Except for the bar scene in 'Gilda' when I sang 'Put the Blame on Mame' and one song in 'Pal Joey,' he always used someone else's voice. Fine thing! I had studied singing since I was a little girl."

The Burnett Show marks Rita Hayworth's debut as an entertainer on television. Her other appearances have been brief—a talk show in England, a documentary and a network account of her present life.

Her beauty remains little touched by her years, 51. Instead of the long auburn tresses which were a trademark, she now wears her hair short with wavy curls. She lives in a stylish mansion behind the Beverly Hills Hotel. While she doesn't work as often as she'd like, she did make a French film in the Canary Islands last year. The title: "The Road to Salina."

How did Carol Burnett nab her?
"I had seen Carol do a take-off on 'Gilda' on her show, and I thought it was hilarious. I sent her a wire saying so. Then in a couple of interviews I mentioned that if I ever did television, it would be with Carol Burnett. She suggested it, and I agreed."

LEE MUELLER Gadget Mania Afflicts American Consumers

By LEE MUELLER
NEW YORK (NEA)—A mania is loose in America. It shrivels the mind, dilates the pupils and itches the palm. It is called the gadget.

Let me explain how it works. There was a guy named Brown in my hometown who went about buying old bicycles and somehow mounting the steering wheels off old junked cars on them. Then he steered the old bike through town, looking for a sucker.

There were lots of suckers around. Like me. I traded him my new Western Flyer for an old bike with a steering wheel.

One of the fastest ways to get rich in this country, you see, is to know what will sell.

Take the case of Herman Schmidt, for instance. He didn't. Schmidt is the fellow who invented the electric toothbrush. Being a sensible fellow and reasoning that nobody in his right mind would waste money on a silly contraption called an electric toothbrush, he failed to patent his invention.

At last count, more than 19 million electric toothbrushes were hanging (do electric toothbrushes hang?) in American bathrooms. Nineteen million electric toothbrushes are worth about $200 million.

Gadgets, at least electrical gadgets, made a major impact on the 1960s. During the decade, 12 million people purchased electric popcorn poppers and 22 million bought electric carving knives. Still to be heard from are electric combs, electric egg cookers, fondue makers and electric socks.

In the New York Times the other day, Lewis Salton, president of Salton, Inc., laughed about his company's $19.95 electric egg cooker. "It will cook an egg perfectly, just as perfectly as a 75-cent saucepan," he says, "but people want it. Anything that will make food taste better or increase speed, ease or accuracy will have a market."

Thus far, no electric mouse traps are being produced in this country, but give us time. Salton, for instance, is in the market for a new kind of toaster.

"Someday," he said, "someone will make an automatic toaster that is faster, toasts more even and permits you to adjust the moisture as well as the color." And even if 91 per cent of U.S. families already have toasters, "it will sell," he added.

Five prominent psychologists were consulted regarding Americans' seeming weakness for gadgets. Four were immediately disqualified because they admitted owning electric gloves.

"It certainly isn't new," said Dr. Webster A. Cook, a New York psychiatrist. "If you'll recall, the entire island of Manhattan was bought for a few colored beads. That's what the American consumer is doing when he invests in these new gadgets: reacting to the same impulse that made the Indians sell land for mirrors and trinkets."

Nevertheless, the gadgets keep coming. According to Robert Shaw, a Westinghouse Electric Corp. executive, his company is constantly bombarded with inventions. "But only one or two per cent of the ideas survive," he says.

Among the rejects have been an electric banana peeler (honest), an electric corkscrew and a lighter-than-air portable television set—the idea being to seal helium inside the case to make it easier for the housewife to carry.

"The people's demand for these things is so strong," Shaw said, "that they'd probably buy some of the things we decide not to make. Sometimes we wonder if our old joke is entirely a joke—that we ought to be the first company to come out with an electric fork."

According to Merchandising Week's annual statistical issue, Americans spent $2.4 million in 1969 on gadgets. Sales are expected to rise another 5 to 10 per cent this year.

Hmmm. If I could just remember how Brown put on those steering wheels...

Boyle's Mailbag

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If you are inclined to blame your parents for everything that goes wrong in your life, it isn't hard to find a reason. Science has discovered nearly 2,000 diseases that may be hereditary.

Freezing makes most things shorter. Perhaps that explains why the Laplanders of northern Europe are that continent's smallest people. They average only 4 1/2 to 5 feet tall.

New on the market: A left-handed boomerang for south-paws who get self-conscious while throwing right-handed boomerangs.

The average American child under 15 years of age gets $55 worth of toys a year. Although dolls are the most popular items in the $3 billion spent annually on toys, another long-time favorite, Teddy bears, still account for $40 million a year.

Here's the only sure way to have the last word in an argument with a woman: hang up the phone on her—and go away before she can call back.

A sobering thought: Did you ever think while at a cocktail party that one of the next 13 people you have a drink with is or will become an alcoholic. Of course, if you have a separate drink with each of them, there's no doubt who the alcoholic is.

Quotable notables: "Liberty is the right of any person to stand up anywhere and say anything whatsoever that everybody thinks."—Lincoln Steffens.

The price of intelligence: Porpoises, believed to be the most intelligent of sea creatures, have a brain that is in some ways more complex than man's. Also like man, the porpoise is high strung, and when over-worked it may develop stomach ulcers.

Worth remembering: "Some wives carefully go over their household budgets each month. Others just go over them."

It was Oscar Wilde who observed, "To become a spectator of one's own life is to escape the suffering of life."

BASIC SMALL BEEF LOAF
Serve leftovers cold in hearty sandwiches.

1 large egg
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons finely grated onion, pulp and juice (1 small onion)

1 teaspoon salt
1/8th teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
2 thin slices white bread
1 pound ground beef

In a medium mixing bowl beat egg slightly; add milk, onion, salt, pepper and mustard and beat to combine. With a knife, cut break into fine crumbs, including crusts; add to milk mixture; beat to blend. Add beef; with a fork or your hands work in thoroughly.

Rinse a small loaf pan, 7 1/2 by 3 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches, with cold water; pack meat mixture, a small amount at a time so there will be no air holes, into pan; turn out on a small shallow baking pan, 11 by 7 by 2 inches.

Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until browned—45 minutes. With 2 wide metal spatulas remove to serving plate. Serve at once.

"Fidelio," written in 1805, was the only opera written by Beethoven, the famous German composer.

Piece Of Charcoal Absorbs Musty Odors

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY—Mrs. W.A. should try placing pieces of charcoal in the empty dresser drawers that have a musty smell. Close the drawers and leave them shut tight for a week or two. Should this fail, I would cover the entire area with self-adhesive paper and feel sure that would seal the odor in. If all is in vain, I would contact the manufacturer of such furniture and ask what to do.—OLLIE

DEAR POLLY—When my pet bird gets loose in the house, I grab my nylon mop, hold it by the handle with the string head in the air, ease the mop up to the bird and lure him on to the mop strings. His little feet will stick and usually cling to the mop head. Catching him is rather easy.—M.K.H.

DEAR POLLY—When cleaning anything made of corduroy I find nothing works better than a toothbrush. I have several things made of this fabric and it collects cat hair, lint and dust but a hard bristle toothbrush removes all very easily just by brushing across the fabric. This takes about five minutes and I do it ever week when I clean my closet.

This also is handy when sewing as this material seems to get so dusty. All I do is brush and it is off. I think this is far better than a clothesbrush or an electric clothes lint remover.—KATHY

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Wall Street investors bought heavily Monday, giving Dow Jones Industrial average its biggest single-day gain of the year.

The stock market was making sturdy gains before President Nixon's economic message was released at noon. But his forecast of a 4% to 5% per cent real rate of growth in physical output for 1971 fueled the further advances.

Analysts said the President's message reinforced expectations that the administration was strongly dedicated to stimulating the economy this year.

The Dow Jones Average of 30 industrial stocks closed at 877.81, up 9.31 points—the biggest one-day jump of 1971.

Trading was heavy throughout the session, with the New York Stock Exchange ticker backed up a minute or more several times during the day. The tape was three minutes late at the close.

Volume on the Big Board of 20.65 million shares compared with Friday's turnover of 20.96 million shares. On the American Stock Exchange 6.40 million shares changed hands, compared with 6.15 million shares Friday.

Of the 1,686 issues traded on the Big Board, 1,005 advanced, and 452 declined. Advances outnumbered declines 667 to 287 among the 1,448 Amex issues traded.

The Associated Press 60-stock average gained 2.0 to 304.4. Industrials were up 5.1, rails gained .4 and utilities tacked on

3. The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,200 common shares closed up 0.32 at 52.96. The American Stock Exchange price-change index was ahead .19 to 24.51. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index added .54 to close at 96.42, a new 1970-1971 high.

Closing prices on the Big Board included: Sperry Rand, up 1% to 30; Texaco, ahead 1/4 to 34 3/4; Transcontinental Investing up 3/4 to 9; American Telephone, ahead 1/4 at 53 1/4; General Cable up 1/4 at 23 1/4; General Electric, up 1/4 to 104 1/4; and National Cash Register, up 1% at 40 1/4.

FUNNY BUSINESS

By Roger Reifer

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A common theme of all the dollar sign news contained in President Nixon's three massive documents on the nation, the budget and the economy appears to be that of great expectations.

Total output is seen rising by $88 billion, or far more than expected by private forecasters; inflation is to be lessened while the economy is being stimulated; a deficit is expected but, we are told, it won't be damaging.

The expectations appear all the more inclined to the sunny side when it is noted that inflation got worse rather than better in December, that unemployment is still rising and that in the past, deficits often were inflationary.

But now take a closer look. Embodied in the economic scheme for the next year is an anticipated 4.2 per cent inflation compared with 5.3 per cent last year, and unemployment is expected to be just under 5 per cent, as in 1970. The big difference is that rates will be falling rather than rising.

Results of this sort certainly do not constitute great expectations. They are modest instead, and perhaps serve to illustrate the necessity of a budget deficit and the need to shoot for that huge increase in output.

What appears at first glance to be daring may only be the reaction of an administration that has no choice, like the infantryman whose only chance for survival is to attack.

Nevertheless, can it attain the expansion it seeks? You'll find many doubters among the private economists, but doubts are what they sell to their clients. Bullish forecasters are suspect, so they tend to hide behind bearskins.

You'll find a lot of these gentlemen encouraged now to re-evaluate their forecasts, and one thing they'll be examining closely is the rising productivity rate. It began last year and almost certainly will continue.

This means that America's factories and farms and stores will, in general, be turning out more for the same expenditure of time and money. The machinery of production has been tuned up during the past year as competition rose. Inflation will be undercut.

Moreover, that downturn in the economy has left the nation with considerable unused ability in its production system, with something like only 75 per cent of capacity being utilized. This fact is significant, because it means that output can rise 10 per cent and still leave the economy utilizing only 82.5 per cent of capacity, compared with a 15-year average of 83.9 per cent.

What disturbs some readers of the budget is the assumption that the economy can be stimulated without paying a price in more inflation.

They understand that the nation has the capacity to produce more, as shown by the unused space, machinery and manpower, and they realize that inflation may not result from this source.

In other words, with supply exceeding demand, they do not fear what is called demand-pull inflation, in which too many dollars chase too few goods and therefore force prices higher. But they do fear cost-push.

This latter type of inflation results when rising costs push prices higher, one of the reasons being the existence of a mass belief that inflation will continue.

Such an inflationary psychology, like a full-employment budget, is also in the nature of a self-fulfilling prophecy. If a manufacturer believes his workers will demand higher wages he might compensate in advance by raising prices. If a worker is convinced that prices will be higher, he also attempts to cover himself in advance.

All in all, is the economic scheme daring? Perhaps in the sense that it hopes for a lot and could fail. It is hardly daring, however, when you realize that it takes a great effort to produce small results, and that there may be no choice anyway.

Investment Clubs Can Be Profitable

By CARLTON SMITH

There are more than 100,000 investment clubs in the country. To a lot of people, obviously, the club approach seems a good way to decide how spare cash can best be put to work profitably and with relative safety.

It's a wonder there aren't 10 times as many clubs. How much better, after all, to be sitting among friends and neighbors when trying to decide the fate of those hard-earned fives and tens. No impatient, condescending broker facing you across a desk, thumbing his commission slips. No fund salesman pushing you into a corner with his relentless "presentation."

The psychological appeal of investment clubs is obvious and sufficient to account for their legions of members. But whether, in fact, the club approach produces good decisions is open to question.

It hinges on a single issue: How much professionalism is involved in reaching decisions on what to buy, when to buy and when to sell. Are these judgments that an amateur can make as correctly, and profitably, as a professional?

Your answer, after sober thought, would probably be "no" — but you may nevertheless find yourself tempted by the fallacy that the little knowledge possessed, individually, by a dozen amateurs adds up to a lot of knowledge.

Norman F. Dacey, who knows a great deal about investing, disposes of the fallacy in these words: "As laymen who know nothing about investing, we might just as sensibly get together twice a month and talk about how to take out an appendix. We are individually ignorant of just how the operation is done; if we get together and talk about it, we remain collectively ignorant."

Dacey, author of the book, "How to Avoid Probate," which got a lot of people stirred up a few years ago, is an estate planner by profession. His recently published "Dacey on Mutual Funds" takes a blunt instrument to several things he thinks are wrong with mutual funds, but his basic conviction is that, with all their faults, the funds are the best means open to the non-wealthy, nonprofessional investor of securing professional investment management.

If investment clubs are serious about what they're doing, he observes, they'll eventually enlist the help of professionals, one way or another, for their investment decisions.

Apollo

Astronaut James McDivitt, manager of the Apollo Spacecraft Program, told newsmen, "I can't help but feel there was some foreign object that got into the system. Where the foreign object came from and where it went, we don't know."

Once the spacecraft had been launched, had orbited earth 1 1/2 times and was then fired off in space toward the moon, Roosa pulled the command ship out from the lunar module and spent third stage rocket Sunday night. He turned it around and tried five times to rejoin it nose to nose with the lunar module. And five times three small metal latches failed to capture and hold.

Space officials explained Monday that the two craft finally were linked when Roosa drove the plunger-like docking probe into the lunar module Drogue and the three small latches sprang into place. As the latches engaged they triggered a contraction of the probe. This drew the craft together and 12 large docking latches slammed into place with 3,000 pounds of force, clamping the craft together.

The astronauts removed the docking device and brought it inside the command ship early Monday. With the aid of a flashlight and instructions radioed from earth, they carefully inspected the probe and the drogue, which is the section of the docking device that is attached to the lunar module.

But they could find nothing amiss. They were able to latch the two pieces together by hand with ease, trying without success to repeat the earlier failure.

The docking mishap had put the astronauts' chances of landing on the moon in doubt. Such a landing in the rugged old Fra Mauro highlands of the moon has been scheduled for 4:16 a.m. EST Friday.

Before the decision to land was announced, Sigurd Sjoberg, the director of flight operations, said, "We will have to convince ourselves in some fashion that the thing is indeed satisfactory for additional dockings."

Even if Mission Control had decided the docking mechanism could not be trusted, Apollo 14 would still have been able to go into an orbit of the moon.

"The mission rules say that if you have a good lunar module with the command module, you can go into lunar orbit even though you couldn't land," said Sjoberg.

While the astronauts slept, Apollo 14 was climbing a "gravity hill" toward the moon. The craft left earth orbit at more than 24,000 miles an hour. But as it moved moonward, the gravity of the earth was trying to pull it back. This caused the spacecraft speed to decline slowly. This will continue until the moon's gravity grasps the spacecraft and begins pulling outward. Then the spacecraft speed will increase until it loops into lunar orbit.

Apollo 14 was launched with the hope of erasing the shadow cast across the space program by the failure last April of Apollo 13.

An oxygen tank exploded while the Apollo 13 spacecraft was 208,000 miles from earth, endangering the three astronauts and forcing cancellation of the mission's lunar landing.

Manned spaceflights were halted while industry and the space agency threw their full weight into a study of what caused the Apollo 13 explosion. The problem was found and $25 million was spent on equipment and design changes. A third, independent oxygen tank was added to Apollo 14. And wiring inside the oxygen tanks was either removed or coated with stainless steel.

The flight plan calls for Apollo 14 to land where Apollo 13 couldn't—in a rolling, ridged area strewn with boulders and rocks 4.6 billion years old or as old as the solar system itself.

Nixon

the three years before he took office, Nixon said.

"But we are nearing the end of these payments," he said, "and 1971 will be a better year, leading to a good year in 1972—and to a new steadiness of expansion in the years ahead."

The report avoided any forecasts about the economy in 1971, but Paul McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, supplied the targets for newsmen.

McCracken said unemployment at the end of the year should fall below 5 per cent and inflation should be "down in the 3 per cent zone by the end of the year."

In addition, McCracken said, real GNP—the growth in output disregarding inflation—should exceed 4 1/2 per cent.

Nixon said forces in the economy make economic expansion possible this year, pointing to a stepup in housing construction, declining interest rates, an expected big increase in state and local government spending, and an economic snapback after settlement of the General Motors strike.

The government will do its share with his new $22.2-billion "full employment budget" for fiscal 1972, built on an $11.6-billion deficit on top of an $18.2-billion deficit for the current fiscal year, Nixon said.

Indochina

The North Vietnamese delegation in Paris accused the United States of stepping up the war in Laos and said this created new obstacles to the Vietnam peace talks, now stalemated there.

The official Laotian reports of an enemy buildup supported, in part at least, the statement of Secretary of State William P. Rogers on Friday. Rogers told a Washington news conference the North Vietnamese are building up large supplies in the Southern panhandle area of Laos, and moving them by truck down the Ho Chi Minh trail.

U.S. B-52 heavy bombers and smaller fighter-bombers continued hammering of the Ho Chi Minh trail on Monday, extending the war's most prolonged bombing campaign through its 115th day.

The North Vietnamese accused the United States of sending thousands of U.S. and South Vietnamese troops to areas along the Laos-Vietnam border in advance of "a new step of war escalation in Laos." Hanoi's official news agency also quoted the Communist-led Pathet Lao as saying the United States has sent "more commando and scout groups deeper" into southern Laos.

In South Vietnam, there was a sudden upsurge of mortar and rocket attacks by North Vietnamese and Viet Cong units against U.S. air bases and other installations.

In all, six U.S. positions came under enemy barrages and the U.S. Command reported six Americans were killed and 26 were wounded.

The heaviest attack was a 50-round mortar shelling and a ground assault against a U.S. reconnaissance team that had set up an ambush position four miles west of Chu Lai, headquarters of the Americal Division in the northern part of the country.

In this attack, the U.S. Command said, five Americans were killed and eight wounded. Five enemy soldiers were killed in the engagement which lasted nearly an hour.

Among other U.S. installations hit was the big air base at Da Nang, frequent target of Communist commando gunners.

PHIL COMES OUT TODAY

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa. (AP) — Punxsutawney Phil, the world's most redoubtable groundhog, greets the light of day on Gobbler's Knob shortly after sunrise Tuesday. If he sees his shadow, it means six more weeks of cold weather, or so the groundhog experts say.

The Punxsutawney Groundhog Club, which has been holding the annual vigil on the hill for 87 years, predicts Phil will see his shadow and hightail it back to his burrow, thus assuring a prolonged winter.

The tradition has its roots in a saying associated with the religious holiday of Candlemas—"If Candlemas be fair, there'll be two winters this year"—and in the Pennsylvania Dutch legend that the hedgehog is a weather forecaster.

Barbershoppers Set Open House For Fun Singers

A special "open house audition" for prospective barbershop quartet and chorus singers will be held by the Jacksonville Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America on Monday evening, February 8. The event will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be held at the Grace United Methodist church, where the barbershoppers regularly meet.

The Jacksonville chapter has more than 35 members, who reside in Jacksonville and surrounding area. Its president, Bill Ricks, invites "any guys who just love to sing for fun" to attend on February 8.

According to Bryce Reeve of Quincy, area counselor for SPEBSQSA, well over 34,000 members make up the society nationally. "There are 700 chapters," he added, "and more than 1,000 registered quartets throughout the United States and Canada."

The open-house-audition on Feb. 8 will be the first ever held by the chapter in this form. Group singing will be held during the evening, and entertainment provided by the Macomb Chapter Chorus, a quartet, and the local Fairfest Wheelers Chorus. Also included in the evening will be a film of the 1970 International Quartet and Chorus Competition held in Atlantic City. The informal "auditions" will be to assist prospective members in voice part selection only, and reading music is not a requirement, and no prior knowledge of barbershop harmony singing is needed.

The Jacksonville Chapter held an annual show each fall, open for many local events, and social events frequently, and hopes to enter District Chorus contest in the future.

A non-profit organization, the society provides a portion of the financial support needed by the Institute of Logopedics in Wichita, Kan., an organization which helps rehabilitate children born with speech defects. The local chapter recently mailed a check for $250 to the Institute of Logopedics from the profit from the November, 1970 Annual Show.

Seven Old Timers Make Hall Of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — The doors of Baseball's Hall of Fame swung open today for seven old timers elected by a veterans' committee after the regular ballot of the Baseball Writers Association of America had failed last month to name any moderns to the shrine.

Legendary pitcher Rube Marquard, who shares the record of 19 consecutive victories in a single season, and George M. Weiss, the executive genius who built the New York Yankees into an awesome powerhouse from the late 1940s until the 1960s, led the advance of the oldtimers.

Also named were outfielders Harry Hooper, Joe Kelley and Chuck Hayfey, first baseman Jake Beckley and shortstop Dave Bancroft.

Marquard, who won 201 games pitching mostly for the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers, from 1906-23, Hooper, who hit .281 in 16 American League seasons and Kelley and Beckley, both pre-1900 stars, were named as "real oldtimers," whose careers ended by 1925.

"I was surprised," said Hooper, now 83. "I've been eligible for this honor for 40 years. Naturally, most all the people who ever saw me play are dead, so it's pretty hard to get in."

Hafey and Bancroft both starred in the 1920-30 era when the others players named Sunday were winding up their careers.

"That was great news," said Hafey, 67, who batted .317 in 13 seasons with St. Louis and Cincinnati and led the National League with a .349 mark in 1931. "I've been out so darned long—'37 was my last year—I didn't think I was ever going to get in there."

Bancroft, a switch-hitting, fancy fielder, had a career .279 average in 16 NL seasons. Weiss was the unanimous selection of the 12-man committee in the executive category. He served first as farm director and later as general manager of Yankee teams which won 19 American League pennants and 15 World Series.

Weiss ruled the Yankee front office as GM from 1947-60 and over that period the Yankees won 11 pennants. After he was let out by the Yankees, he moved across town to become the first president of the expansion New York Mets in 1962. He retired in 1966 after 47 years in baseball.

The oldtimers committee that elected the seven men Sunday includes Hall of Famers Joe Cronin, Charley Gehringer, Frank Frisch, Waite Hoyt and Bill Terry. It used the option given for this year only, to name four players in the "real oldtimers" category covering players whose careers ended by 1925. Previously only two players and one executive could be picked each year.

To be eligible for election by the veteran's committee, oldtimers must be out of baseball for 20 years and no longer eligible for election by the Baseball Writers Association.

The New York Writers honored Cincinnati Catcher Johnny Bench as 1970's top player and also presented key awards to Fritz Peterson, of the New York Yankees, and Donald Davidson, traveling secretary of the Atlanta Braves, Baltimore third baseman Brooks Robinson and Pie Traynor, legendary third baseman of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Bench won the Sid Mercer Award as player of the year, Peterson took the Ben Epstein Good Guy Award for his cooperation with the press, Davidson received the William Slocum Award for long and meritorious service to baseball, Robinson won the Babe Ruth Award as the outstanding performer of the World Series and Traynor took the Retroactive Award.

LOCAL WITNESSES AT 3-DAY MEET

The local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses were part of an audience of 1,357 at Springfield High School who heard F. F. Garrett, a representative from the Witness world headquarters in Brooklyn, New York, deliver the public lecture "What's Behind the Spirit of Rebellion?"

Speaking to 16 Illinois congregations as a climax to their three-day convention, Garrett highlighted God's Kingdom as a means to end all rebellion.

Concerning the problem of rebellion, Garrett stated, "In our generation children rebel against parents, wives rebel against husbands and people rebel against rulers. But this spirit of rebellion is nothing new. It goes all the way back to Eden, where the first human pair rebelled against the highest authority, Jehovah God."

"Worldwide restlessness and spirit of rebellion was foretold 2,000 years ago," asserted Garrett, referring to the Bible, "for Jesus Christ said this would be a sure sign of the end of this system, and the rule of God's Kingdom over the earth."

Mr. Ray Hacker, local president minister, revealed that Saturday evening sessions provided training for 1,100 attending Witnesses to conduct home Bible studies with interested persons in their locale.

According to Mr. Hacker, Jehovah's Witnesses in this vicinity will be applying new teaching principles as they go from house to house offering Bible studies and "people of any religion may avail themselves of our free Bible study course. Questions such as 'Who Is God?' 'What Is Death?' 'What Does the Future Hold?' will be answered in our free six-month Bible study course."

The local congregation will now resume regular scheduled meetings at their Kingdom Hall.

Rodriguez, Oliver Bag Daytona Prize

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Pedro Rodriguez is a wiry little man, toughened by 17 of his 31 years at the wheel of a fast racing car. He no longer enjoys the emotional bath that comes with victory.

Such was the case Sunday after he and England's Jackie Oliver paired to drive a German Porsche to the closest victory ever in the Daytona 24-hour race.

Rodriguez had done it before—in 1970 when he teamed with Finland's Lee Kinnunen in another Porsche. The only smile he flashed after Sunday's triumph, his fourth at Daytona, was when he said he finds it easier to communicate with Oliver than with Kinnunen, who speaks no English.

Yet he and Oliver had performed a near miracle in winning this latest edition of the longest and most demanding race in the Western world. And he should have been floating on cloud nine, as Oliver was.

"They get harder every year," said Mexico City's No. 1 citizen. "But I'm not at all surprised that we won. That's what we came here to do."

Rodriguez flashed past a Ferrari driven by Ronnie Bucknum for Porsche's second straight 24-hour victory here. It put the German factory in command again in the 1971 drive for the world championship of makes—a circuit it dominated last year by winning all but one of the 10 events.

Rodriguez and Oliver, dividing the driving chores about equally, had built up a lead of 213 miles at one point in the race. But trouble struck with about three hours left when the car's transmission failed as Oliver was motoring around with not a care in the world.

Two Ferraris—the one driven alternately by Bucknum and Tony Adamowicz of Wilton, Conn., and another under command of two-time U.S. road racing champion Mark Donohue and David Gibbs of England—had survived the long night but were out of it as long as the Porsche held together.

Oliver brought the powder-blue car into the pit and he and Rodriguez spent an agonizing 90 minutes watching their lead wiped out as crewmen feverishly made repairs.

Bucknum gained the lead 70 minutes from the end and Donohue pulled into striking distance before crew chief John Weyer could get the Porsche rolling again. Rodriguez bolted back to the course a half mile behind Bucknum, whose Ferrari was spitting fire and having trouble getting through the turns.

The Mexican hotshot needed less than two laps around the 3.81-mile layout to catch Bucknum and he never was in serious trouble again.

Donohue and Gibbs drove brilliantly to a third-place finish despite more than an hour in the pits at one point to repair body damage suffered in a wreck.

Fourth place went to a seven-liter Corvette driven by Tony DeLorenzo, Don Yenko and Jack Mahler. Fifth was a three-liter Ferrari manned by Luigi Chinetti Jr. of Greenwich, Conn., and young Nestor Garcia Veiga of Argentina.

Three other potent Porsches were eliminated in wrecks. One, driven by Vic Eilford of England, was involved in the smashup that almost put Donohue out. Another, handled by Jo Siffert of Switzerland, broke down early in the race, while Dr. Helmut Marko of Austria was at the wheel when his car smashed into the east turn guard rail after 15 hours of the race.

Rodriguez won a three-hour race in 1963 and was in the winning car when the distance was changed to 2,000 kilometers in 1964. With the 2,621.28 miles his car covered Saturday and Sunday at 108.203 m.p.h. the little Mexican now has driven more than 12,000 miles of competition at Daytona.

Dodds was alone at the time of the accident which occurred about five miles north of Greenfield.

An inquest will be held at a later date. The remains were removed to the Shields Memorial Home in Greenfield and later transferred to the Williamson Funeral Home in Jacksonville.

Michigan Takes Lead In Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan Coach Johnny Orr is somewhat of a spellbinder. He speaks in a soft drawl and tells a lot of jokes.

In between the drawl and the jokes, Orr just might be stealing away the Big Ten basketball championship.

His Wolverines, led by super sophomore Henry Wilmore, have climbed to the top in the conference race with a 4-0 record, a step ahead of Illinois and Purdue who have 3-0 records.

Moreover, the Wolverines have won three of their games on the road and of their 10 remaining Big Ten games, only four are away from home.

Michigan bowled over Minnesota 97-79 Saturday night. It was a pivotal victory as far as Orr and the Wolverines are concerned.

Before the game, Orr conceded if Michigan could win at Minnesota the Wolverines would have an excellent shot at the title.

Wilmore poured in 31 points as Michigan exploded with an 18-point spree in the second half to win easily.

Before the season started, Orr called his current Wolverines the best Michigan team since the championship days of Cassie Russell and added, "We're bigger, quicker and we intend to win a few games."

The biggest surprise of the season was sprung at Columbus Saturday night when Michigan State upset Ohio State 82-70 to give the Buckeyes their first conference defeat. Maybe they were confused over who was the home team. The Spartans had their uniforms stolen from their locker room and had to play in Ohio State's road uniforms.

Bill Kilmore led MSU with 21 points and Rudy Benjamin and Ron Gutkowski scored 19 each. Luke Witke led Ohio State with 19 points.

To make it a complete sweep for road teams, Iowa edged Northwestern 87-85 as Fred Brown scored 35 points.

Outside the conference, Illinois upset Notre Dame 69-66 in overtime and Purdue downed Marshall 79-75. Nick Conner's two baskets in the extra period and Rick Howat's 30 points paced the Illini victory.

Illinois and Purdue return to conference action Tuesday night. The Illini will be at Iowa and Purdue invades Michigan to take a crack at the Wolverines.

Wisconsin takes on top-ranked Marquette in nonconference play.

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Maywood's Provost East and Dolton's Thornridge continued to dominate the Associated Press poll of Illinois high school basketball Monday, but a rash of weekend upsets jumbled the rest of the poll.

Joliet Central turned in two victories and remained third behind Provost and Thornridge.

Paris and Mendota maintained perfect records, but Mendota, which charged over LaSalle-Peru Saturday 82-69, bumped Paris out of the fourth berth. Paris dropped to fifth despite three wins last week.

Rock Island, rated eighth last week, fell eight places to the 16th position after losing to Daventryport, Iowa West 78-70 and Aurora East 80-79.

State Cage Meet Will Again Be Available On TV

TV sports fans will be happy to know that once again — for the 20th year in a row — all the thrills of the IHSAA Basketball Tournament will be coming their way in March. Harry Fitzhugh, executive secretary of the Illinois High School Association, announced today that a 10-station network will carry the tournament broadcast live and in color throughout the state.

Fans will pack the Assembly Hall at the University of Illinois Champaign to watch the action of the 64th annual tournament. Semi-final and final action is scheduled for Saturday, March 20, will determine who will wear the state crown won last year by LaGrange Lyons Township High School.

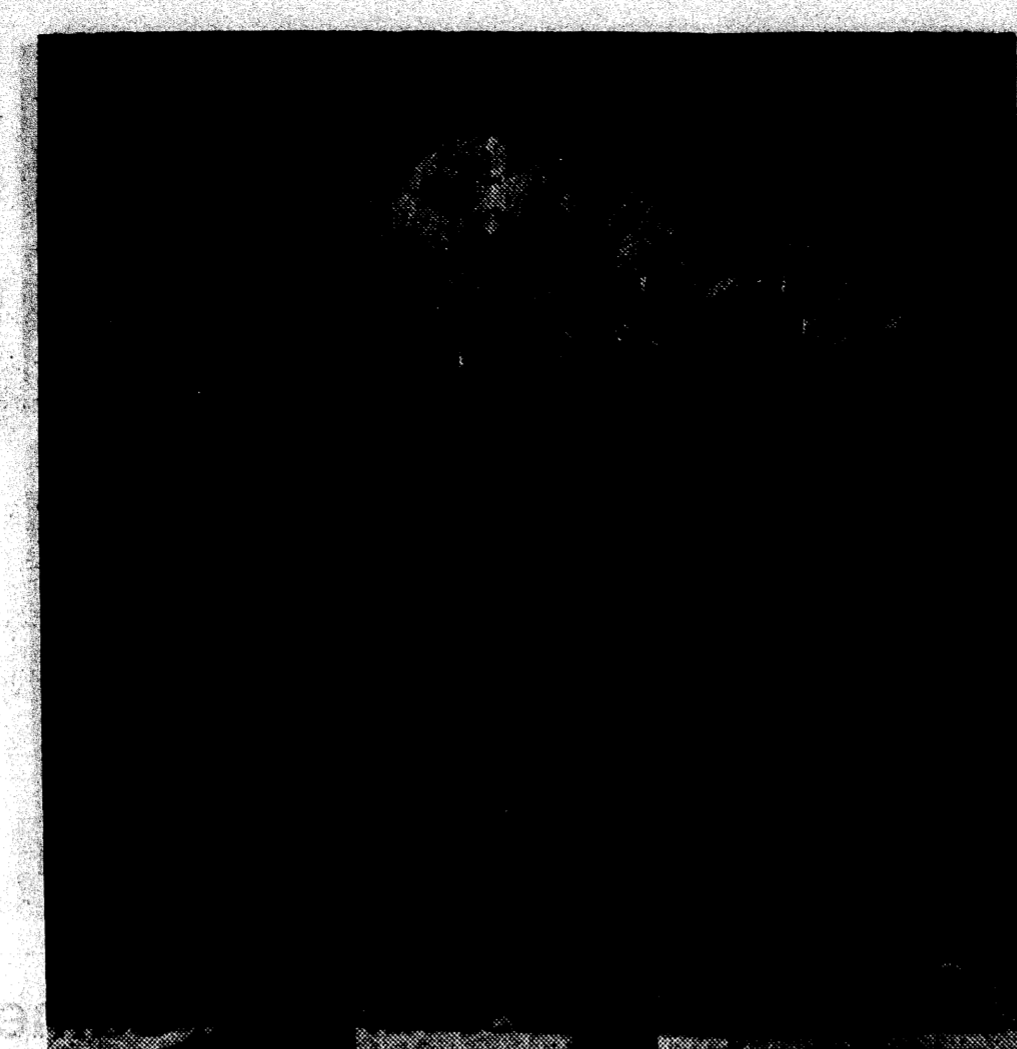

This is the last year of one-class tournament play. Beginning next year, schools with fewer than 750 students will have a separate playoff and championship. A trio of experienced basketball commentators will handle the broadcast. Tom Kelly of KTTV in Los Angeles will return to announce his 12th IHSAA tournament. Jim Bolen of KMOX in St. Louis will also be back, for his fourth tourney. And joining them will be Johnny Kerr, former head coach of the Chicago Bulls, and pro and college basketball star. This will be Kerr's first IHSAA appearance.

As it has from the first tourney telecast, Illinois Bell will sponsor this year's IHSAA broadcast. Western Electric, the Bell System's manufacturing and supply unit, will co-sponsor for the 6th straight year.

Tournament coverage begins with semi-final action at noon Saturday. The finals will be telecast at 7 p.m. that evening. The 10 stations on the IHSAA network are Champaign's WCIA (ch. 3), Chicago's WGN-TV (ch. 9), Canville's WICD (ch. 15), Harrisburg's WSIL (ch. 3), Peoria's WIRL (ch. 19), Quincy's WGEM-TV (ch. 4), Rockford's WCEB-TV (ch. 23), Rock Island's WHBF-TV (ch. 4), St. Louis' KPLR (ch. 11), and Springfield's WICS (ch. 20).

WINCHESTER HOSTS FRESHMAN TOURNEY

WINCHESTER — Winchester High school will host a four-team freshman basketball tournament this Saturday, with Beardstown, Pittsfield, Rount and Winchester entered. Beardstown takes on Winchester at 9 a.m. in the opener, followed by Rount vs. Pittsfield at 10:30. The two losers from the first round will play at 2:00 and the winners square off at 3:30 for the championship.

Ireland Calls USC, Kansas Best Clubs

CHICAGO (AP) — With a 2-14 record, Coach George Ireland of Chicago Loyola doesn't qualify for much fanfare, except, maybe, his view of the national basketball rankings.

Within a week, hapless Loyola played the three top teams in

Lorenzen Teams With Granatelli

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Fred Lorenzen, one of the south's all-time racing greats, has signed to drive a 1971 Plymouth to be entered in big stock car events for this year by Andy Granatelli and the STP Corp.

Granatelli, who also owns the cars assigned to Mario Andretti on the USAC championship trail, said Lorenzen's first start in the flaming red Plymouth will be in the Feb. 14 Daytona 500.

The car was built and will be maintained by Ray Nichols Engineering of Griffith, Ind., with former stock car racing great Paul Goldsmith as crew chief.

Nichols has also entered a 1971 Pontiac for Charlie Goltz, who has driven for the Nichols-Goldsmith team the last two years.

The announcement was made at Daytona Beach as cars that participated in last weekend's 24-Hour Race were moving out of the vast Daytona International Speedway.

The co-winners of the 24-hour event, Mexico's Pedro Rodriguez and England's Jackie Oliver, appeared at an awards luncheon and accepted all but one of the major trophies offered in the race.

Moving into the garage area were stock cars of the Auto Racing Club of America (ARCA) and the more powerful machines of NASCAR's Grand National Division.

The stockers from both sanctioning bodies open practice Tuesday. The NASCAR drivers will qualify Saturday for the pole positions in the Feb. 14 race, while the ARCA cars will race in a 300-mile event Sunday.

The Lorenzen entry in the NASCAR schedule this year is Granatelli's first big effort in stock car racing. Previously the oil additive magnate had limited his activities to USAC championship racing though he had fielded a car for Andretti in some international grand prix last year.

WELL-INFORMED CADDIES PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — When entries in the Feb. 25-28 Professional Golfers Association championship ask their caddies for advice, the bag-toters should be well versed. They'll be pro golfers themselves. Clarke said the response to the idea of having pros caddy for pros "has been gratifying."

Marquette Retains Top College Rating

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Marquette's streaking Warriors continued to hold forth as the nation's top-ranked college basketball power Monday while unbeaten Southern California displaced defending champion UCLA in the runnerup spot.

Marquette, which stretched its winning string to 28 last week with a pair of victories, topped The Associated Press poll with 18 of the 33 first place votes cast by a nationwide panel of writers, and a total of 610 points.

The Warriors, 16-0 this season after drubbing Northern Michigan 106-57 and Chicago Loyola 87-52, grabbed the top spot from UCLA a week ago after Notre Dame handed the Bruins their first loss.

This week, UCLA slipped from second to third exchanging places with Southern Cal, which trimmed Illinois 81-68 and Chicago Loyola 97-73 for a 16-0 mark.

USC received eight first place votes, to seven for UCLA, and the Trojans had a 584-558 point edge over the 15-1 Bruins, who downed California-Santa Barbara 74-61 in their only start last week.

The Los Angeles arch rivals collide Saturday at Southern Cal.

Pennsylvania, also unbeaten in 16 starts after a 66-62 overtime nod over Princeton; Kansas, 14-1 following a 95-72 romp over Iowa State; and Jacksonville, which beat South Alabama 91-76 and Florida State 83-65 for a 14-2 mark, remained fourth, fifth and sixth in the rankings.

South Carolina, 11-3, moved up from 10th to seventh, Kentucky 13-3, from 11th to eighth, Western Kentucky, 14-3, from 12th to ninth and LaSalle, 14-1, from 14th to 10th. Hardest hit in the reshuffling of positions was

Notre Dame, 10-5 after bowing to Illinois 69-56 in overtime last Saturday night, which fell from No. 7 to No. 12.

Rockets At Home, ISD Visits Bluffs

Games involving Routt and Illinois School for the Deaf, the battle for second place in the MSM Conference and an interesting rematch between Triopia and Meredosia highlight tonight's 14-game local and area high school basketball schedule.

The local headliner finds crippled Routt hosting small school powerhouse Ashland, while ISD travels to Bluffs for a PMSC Conference encounter.

Divernon, Auburn, Franklin and Northwestern with two losses all trail league-leading Porta (8-0) in the chase for the top spot.

Non-conference tilts tonight find Jerseyville (7-8) traveling to Carrollton (12-5), Barry (13-4) hosting Mark Twain High school, New Berlin (8-10) visiting Raymond Lincolnwood and North Greene (12-4) playing host to Carlinville.

ISD, in a three-game losing streak, will bring a 5-9 overall mark and a 0-5 PMSC card to Bluffs. The Bluejays stand 5-8 and 1-3.

In other PMSC Conference play tonight Chandlerville (14-5 and 4-1) goes to Perry (3-10 and 0-4) and Triopia (19-0 and 5-0) visits Meredosia (8-9 and 2-2). Meredosia gave Triopia's its biggest scare of the year to date in a 28-26 loss in the recent PMSC Tournament, leading 9-4 at halftime.

Other conference play this evening finds Brown County (7-10 and 0-0) at Camp Point Central in the Midwest, Southwestern (15-1 and 7-0) entertaining Mt. Olive (1-6) in the South Central, East Pike (5-14 and 2-4) at Calhoun (12-4 and 3-0) in the Pike County and Waverly (3-14 and 2-6) visiting Pawnee (3-4), Northwestern (9-9 and 6-2) hosting Kincaid (2-4) and Divernon (5-2) going to Franklin (13-7 and 6-2) in the MSM.

But the spring-footed, 34-year-old who made the jump shot from the key a classic, doesn't find it hard to get fired-up after all those long seasons.

"That's the job of a pro, to stay up," he says, his jaw a tight, crisp line. "And sometimes, the team you're playing with helps you stay high—a good team like the Knicks, for instance."

Angotti suffered the injury in a 4-1 victory over Montreal Sunday. X-Rays taken Monday revealed a slight crack in the ankle which will be placed in a cast.

Alex Kroll

Murray Olderman

NEA Executive Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — For Alex Kroll, there is only one floor to go to reach the top. He has the northeast corner office on the fifth floor, overlooking Madison Avenue and 40th Street. It goes with being vice-president, a member of the board of directors and creative director of Young and Rubicam. He is the No. 2 man in the No. 2 agency in all the world, responsible for all the creative effort—ideas, writing, art—for a half billion dollars' worth of billing annually.

The No. 1 man at Y&R is directly above him, in the northeast corner office on the sixth floor. At 33, Alex Kroll has made it meteorically through the competitive jaggedness of advertising. Eight years ago he was a beat-up football player. He was the last New York Titan ever carried out of the old Polo Grounds. In a game against the Houston Oilers, in one-degree weather before 60 spectators and a few equipment managers, he was knocked cold trying to tackle an Oiler defensive back after an interception. He was unconscious for eight minutes.

"Twenty hours later," he muses, "I showed up for work at Young and Rubicam. I was still punchy. I talked like Rocky Graziano. The man who saw me counseled, 'Go home and get some soup.'"

When Alex finally did get to work, he became a "cub" in the copywriting department. "Me and two other girls," he muses. "They were from Vasar and Pembroke, in shaggy sweaters, with acne. I was bullet-headed and weighed 246 pounds. We'd show up for an account meeting, and the clients thought I was the guy who moved the furniture."

He also took an enormous cut in pay to become an advertising man. In his one season with the New York Titans, as an offensive tackle and center, Alex made $14,000—once he cashed some checks which had bounced. At Y&R, he started at $130 a week. But he did have some identification. He had played football at Yale and Rutgers (to which he transferred after army service interrupted his studies) and gained All-American acclaim.

Alex still looks trim enough at 235 to play football—two of his contemporaries, Don Maynard and Larry Grantham, are active with the same team, now called the New York Jets. He still has his hair, combed conservatively to the side. He wears modest brown tortoiseshell glasses. He's not sure be-

Wins Name Of Game Says SCU's McGuire

NEW YORK (NEA) — When reporters here asked Frank McGuire about the fight that erupted during one of his games, in which a South Carolina player was accused of punching Lefty Driesell, the Maryland coach, he reacted with surprise.

"What's all the fuss about?" he asked. "It's no big thing. It could have happened anywhere. As for Lefty getting punched, I don't think that's so. Why, he was so excited, I'd say he punched himself."

But when a young assistant coach from Cornell University got up at a press luncheon and said that the most likely spot in which to prepare for a game against South Carolina is Stillman's Gym, McGuire's face drained.

Frank McGuire

"The young man from Cornell had no reason to say something like that," he said. "It was uncalled for. Besides, Stillman's Gym is closed now."

Through the years, Frank McGuire, besides being the most sartorially correct of college basketball coaches, has produced highly successful basketball teams. He has produced teams comprised of young men who hardly look as if they had been plucked from the tobacco farms in Charleston.

McGuire has concentrated his recruiting in New York City and environs. All but two players on his current team have come from places that are not within dribbling distance of Greenwich Village, where McGuire was born and raised.

But since these players are representing the University of South Carolina, one may wonder how South Carolinians react to such importing of talent. It was not too long ago that South Carolina's basketball teams were made up of players from Columbia and Bennettsville, not Manhattan and Oyster Bay, L.I.

"Our fans down there think nothing of it," said McGuire. "I tell them, 'Let's face it. Kids in New York know more about basketball than kids in any other city. Why shouldn't we go after them. We're in this thing to win games, aren't we?'"

"There's no such thing as southern prejudice toward New Yorkers, as far as we're concerned. Heck, the people down here treat the kids we bring down just like native sons. They invite them to their homes, cook meals for them, treat them as conquering heroes. There's no problem at all."

"If the best kids were in Vermont or New Mexico, we'd recruit there, too."

Duke Upsets S. Carolina via FTs

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Gary Melchioni hit six consecutive free throws in a seemingly endless Duke parade to the foul line Monday night to pace the Blue Devils to an 82-71 upset victory over seventh-ranked South Carolina in an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game.

The Blue Devils were ahead by six points, 67-61, when Melchioni and Duke began to go to the line.

Duke took the lead at 10:17 of the first half and never trailed again. South Carolina tied it at 37-37 with 16:30 left to play.

After that it was Duke's ability at the charity line and coolness against SC's pressure defense that iced the victory.

Robinson Named Winner Of 21st Hickok Award

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Brooks Robinson, outstanding player of the World Series with his glove and bat, was named Monday night as winner of the 21st annual Hickok Professional Athlete of the Year Award.

The 33-year-old third baseman of the baseball champion Baltimore Orioles won by a large margin over another veteran, 43-year-old George Blanda, quarterback of pro football's Oakland Raiders.

Robinson, who hit .428 in the World Series and made a series of spectacular fielding plays in the five-game triumph over the Cincinnati Reds, received 62 of the 146 first place votes by a panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

He had a total of 236 points, based on three for first, two for second and one for third. Announcement of the award was made at the annual Rochester Press and Radio Club dinner. Proceeds of the dinner go to charity.

The presentation of the diamond-studded, gold-buckled Hickok Belt, valued at about $10,000, was made to Robinson by Ray Hickok.

Blanda, who led the Raiders to the National Football League's playoffs with his clutch passing and field goal kicking, received 19 first place votes and 140 points.

McLemore Goes To Milwaukee

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Cavaliers traded McCoy McLemore to the Milwaukee Bucks in exchange for Gary Freeman plus Milwaukee's second college draft choice this year and an undisclosed amount of cash.

The deal came shortly before 3 p.m., just nine hours before the National Basketball Association's trading deadline.

Freeman, a 6-foot-9 forward, was Milwaukee's number one pick in last year's college draft. Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch said he was reluctant to trade McLemore, a seven-year veteran forward who was leading the team in rebounding with eight per game but said, "we had to look ahead to the future and build with youngsters."

Ira Berkow

NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — The subject of who the first black big-league manager will be, and who will hire him, and when, has become dreary. Dreary in that baseball owners should be so sluggish about it.

Big-time sports in general, in fact, have not done much better than baseball in this regard. Funny, few even mention black prospects for a pro football head coaching job. And only recently have top "white" colleges begun hiring black assistant football coaches.

In pro basketball, there are two black head coaches currently, and one assistant coach. In major colleges, Will Robinson of Illinois State, in his first year, is the first black man to become a head basketball coach.

Baseball, though, is of prime discussion because it seems on the precipice of taking the plunge.

Henry Aaron, star of the Atlanta Braves, said that Maury Wills will be the first black major league manager. "It is only my personal opinion," said Aaron. "But I think the Los Angeles Dodgers are grooming him for the job. Walter Alston is getting older. But I have a feeling that he'll be moving up into the front office in the next year or two."

Wills is managing the Hermsillo team in the Mexican League. According to Dodger sources who, they say, are watching his progress carefully, he has done well. Yet Wills is still an active player and Alston, going into his 18th season as Dodger manager, gives no public indication of stepping up.

Jim Gilliam, strangely, has not fit into any recent rumors of this nature. And he has been a Dodger coach for several seasons. Frank Robinson, who has managed in a Winter League, Wills, Ernie Banks and Elston Howard have been consistently public about managerial ambitions. "All four have said they would go to the minor leagues to learn the trade," said Monte Irvin, the lone black in the baseball commissioner's office.

Blacks have made phenomenal inroads as players in major sports, but they have been virtually neglected as managers and coaches. Of 600 major league baseball players, 150 are black. All 24 managers are white, and of the 100 or so coaches, only Gilliam, Howard and Ossie Virgil of San Francisco are full-time coaches. Banks is listed as player-coach.

Only two blacks, Gene Baker and Hector Lopez, have managed in the minor leagues. And both are now big-league scouts.

In pro football, approximately 330 out of the 1,040 players are black. Yet, of about 130 assistant coaches, only two, Ivy Cross of Philadelphia and Emilen Tunnell of the Giants, are black. Rosie Brown has given up coaching with the Giants to go into scouting.

Pro basketball has made the first steps toward black head coaches. Bill Russell, now retired, was the first, in 1966 with the Boston Celtics. John McLendon, now fired, coached Denver of the ABA.

Now there are two out of 28 head coaches. The two are both player-coaches. Len Wilkens of Seattle and Al Attles of San Francisco. But even this record, sparkling compared to all other sports, diminishes when one sees that over half of the NBA and ABA players, 150 of 280, (in round numbers), is black.

Torre Recalls Hot Year At The Plate

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

"I may never have another year like it," Joe Torre was saying after having been chosen athlete of the year in St. Louis.

What Joe Torre did in his 10th baseball season in the National League and second with the St. Louis Cardinals is almost unbelievable.

The husky catcher-third baseman-first baseman made 203 hits. It is the first time that the 210-pound plus Brooklyn-born big leaguer ever made more than 200 hits in one season.

The 30-year-old Torre, never known to beat out leg hits, will always remember his 200th hit. It was a legger.

"I first started thinking about 200 hits when I needed 60," the dark-haired Red Bird slugger confessed. "I never had 200. In 1964 with the Milwaukee Braves I had 193 hits by playing all 154 games."

Torre last season played 161 games. Nobody in the NL played more which makes him an Iron Man. He caught 90 games after having caught only 17 in 1969. When rookie catcher Ted Simmons came out of the service, Brooklyn Joe helped the young receiver and Torre moved to third base where he played 73 games. Joe also played one game at first. In three games he played two positions.

Manager Red Schoendienst appreciated Torre's versatility and said the Cardinals could not have finished fourth without his bat.

In batting .325 last season, Torre accounted for 168 runs, a figure higher than those of the more heralded Rich Allen (155) and Lou Brock (158). Joe drove in 100 runs, 21 of them with homers, and scored 89 times.

"We were playing the last two games of the season at home against the Pirates," Torre added the other day, "I needed four more hits to reach 200. I got three on Wednesday night against Pittsburgh. I still needed another one for 200."

"I got it, a dribbler between pitcher Steve Blass and third baseman Rich Hebner. Don't laugh, but I got a few leg hits last season."

Just to make sure they wouldn't take the "leg hit" away from him, Torre finished the season that night with three more singles.

As a result of the fine season for the Cardinals' No. 4 hitter, Torre will receive The Big Stick Award from the Adirondack bat people.

Torre has hit above .300 before. He made .321 at Milwaukee in '64 and .315 at Atlanta in '66. In those years he drove in 109 and 101 runs, respectively, and he drove in 101 for St. Louis in 1969 after the Cardinals had obtained him that spring from the Atlanta Braves for first baseman Orlando Cepeda. But only twice in four years has one of Torre's teams finished as high as fourth in a pennant race.

For this year's goal, Joe Torre hopes to help the Cardinals win the NL West crown and get into World Series. He has played in five All-Star games but has never played in a World Series.

A capacity crowd of 17,000 watched the underdog Wildcats pull even twice in the final 10 minutes, at 5:58 with 0:35 left on David Hall's one-batter, and at 6:00 with 9:20 remaining.

After the last tie, Kansas shot its way into a 67-60 lead on goals by Pierre Russell, Dave Robisch and Bud Stallworth and a free throw by Robisch.

Kansas State came back with four points, two on Hall's layup and two on free throws by Terry Snider to close the gap to 67-64 only to have Robisch open it up once more to 72-64.

Yablonski Jr. Seeks To Avenge Father-In Court

By TOM TIEDE
WASHINGTON (NEA) — On New Year's Eve of 1969 some body entered the Pennsylvania home of coal union reformer Joseph Yablonski and fired at least five bullets into him, two into his wife and two more into his 25-year-old daughter.

The shots were heard in mine shafts throughout the nation.

Yablonski had just lost an incredibly confused, controversial and brutal election for the presidency of the United Mine Workers of America. Friends said the murders were an extension of the election's anger. Evidence was found to suggest that an "assassination fund" had been set up, and Yablonski associates bluntly accused UMW officials of having engineered their colleague's murder.

Suits were filed, special investigations started, grand juries formed. Militant mine workers decided to "stand up and be counted." Such were the resulting activities that one coal district congressman speculated that, ugly as the murders were, they might at least bring about a cleanup of the autocratic UMW.

That was one year ago.

Today, it appears some of the individual anger over the Yablonski family deaths has abated. And a good deal of the hectic legal wrangle has, too. A Senate subcommittee formed to investigate the UMW has not met in more than seven months. A Labor Department suit which would void the election Yablonski lost has not even had a hearing yet. As one long-time coal union observer puts it: "In this business people forget. They have to. If you let every miserable thing that happens bother you, you'd just go down in the mine one day and never come up."

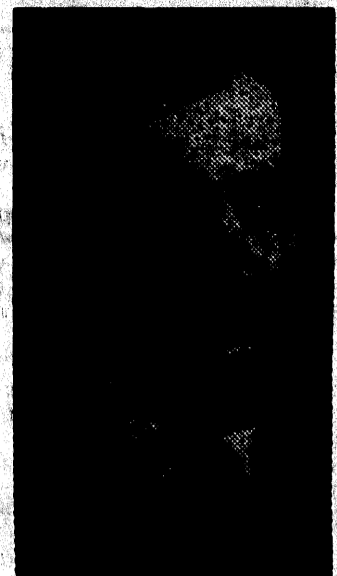

But on a less emotional, more realistic basis, the fight to avenge Joe Yablonski goes on. Soon, five people will be tried in Pennsylvania for the murders. The prosecution is confident of victory. And although few Yablonski avengers believe that justice will be satisfied even with convictions—"The real murderers, the guys who paid for the assassination, are still at large"—there is hope the trials will bring out new evidence of alleged UMW crime and corruption.

And, perhaps, even help weed out the alleged wrongdoing.

One of the more optimistic weed-pickers, as it happens, is Joe Yablonski's son, Chip, 31, a Washington lawyer. It was he who, only hours after the discovery of his father's murder, accused UMW officials of complicity. And it is he who for the past dozen months has been at the lead of legal pot-shooting at the union.

Never a coalworker himself, he nonetheless has many connections among dissatisfied working factions. He acts as counsel for the largest such faction—Miners for Democracy, a group of antiestablishment UMWs formed after the elder Yablonski's death. MFD, says Yablonski Jr., represents the 42,000 men who voted for his father. And he strongly believes that it is these men who will eventually fully requite Yablonski Sr.—"By taking over the UMW."

In the days immediately following the murders, Chip Yablonski began a blind attack against the UMW. He said some things that, while perhaps true, helped little. Now, he says, he has calmed down some. "Maybe I should keep going for the jugular, but I think I can accomplish more with another approach." That approach is legal. Chip Yablonski has decided to destroy UMW leadership in court.

Joseph A. Yablonski Jr.

Joseph A. Yablonski Sr.

In recent months, Yablonski Jr. has scratched the Labor Department conscience until a scab is beginning to show. He has decried department apathy and inaction over the UMW investigation ("There is one suit against the UMW trusteeship program which is now over six years old."). He has called for the resignation of some Labor officials. He has called UMW's president Tony Boyle everything but nice ("He couldn't run a garbage truck."). Right now he is buttonholing Congress for government help. ("We have to have federal assistance to supervise our elections"). One specific Yablonski battle is to clear up a recent UMW election in Pennsylvania's District 5. The election was held in December and, according to Yablonski, three reform candidates won at the polling places. However, "The UMW brought in absentee ballots to be counted because the absentee ballots are stacked ballots which would defeat our candidates. We contend that the International Union prohibits absentee ballots—and we intend to fight for justice."

Yablonski's fight, to be sure, is being conducted in some degree of tension. He says he sleeps with a gun under his pillow because "They won't get me like they got my father." But if he's worried about it, he refuses to tremble. "I think I'm very high on the Tony Boyle hate list—but I'm still going to see him booted out of office."

Only one U.S. president has ever been elected without opposition—George Washington in 1789 and 1792.

The cape quest is answered with a cotton and flax jacquard capecoat (left) that uncovers a high band neckline and straight fly front. Matching gaucho pants are the thing to wear underneath. How, now, knickers? With a matching jacket, that's how. Cotton jacquard fitted knickers (right) are elasticized below the knees. The slim jacket has a set-in contour waistband. Puff where the sleeves meet the shoulders means a little Victorian influence abounds. These designs are by Nat Hirsch for Junior Gallery.

Fra Mauro May Hold Magnificent Payoff

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Fra Mauro, target landing site for Apollo 14, is a highland area of hills, ridges, valleys, craters and rocks the size of automobiles, on the eastern edge of the moon's Ocean of Storms.

Why visit this particular bleak, forbidding, dangerous place? Scientists believe it promises a magnificent payoff: a sampling of material as old as the moon itself, and far more ancient than that brought back by the Apollo 11 and 12 crews.

Says Edgar D. Mitchell, Apollo 14 lunar module pilot: "We're going to look for a rock that has 4 1/2 billion years written across it." Apollo 14 is scheduled to land at Fra Mauro Friday.

No rocks ever have been found on earth that approach that age. Some Granite rocks in Africa, the Soviet Union and North America have been judged to be as much as 3.5 billion, or possibly, 3.8 billion years old.

Laboratory analyses now indicate that the material recovered from the Apollo 11 landing site in the Sea of Tranquility was 3.65 billion years old, and that brought back by Apollo 12 from the Ocean of Storms dated back some 3.45 billion years.

"The Apollo 11 landing site was chosen principally because that was a smooth safe place to land," said Dr. Paul W. Gast, head of the Lunar and Planetary Division of Houston's Space Center.

"Apollo 12 landed beside Surveyor 3, and Surveyor 3 landed there because that was a smooth, safe place to land," Gast added.

"This is the first time that we are going into a site in which the scientific objectives have had a real input in choosing where we go."

Says Dr. John A. Wood of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, Cambridge, Mass.: "Oldness is something of great concern to us. The particular value that the moon has to earth scientists is that it is the source of very ancient planetary material for us. And we can hope to read in this ancient planetary material a record of how the planets formed, and its early evolutionary stages."

"We cannot find material like this on the earth. It's been obliterated by the earth's geologic activity. Only on a small relatively inert planet like the moon could we hope to find a record of the birth pain. So we're particularly concerned, on the moon, to go to the oldest regions. We wait with some impatience missions such as Apollo 14 that will go into the highlands and bring back material of that sort."

Ask Congress To Halt Capital Construction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is being asked to halt construction of a sculpture garden on the historic capital Mall as part of a museum complex housing the art collection of Joseph H. Hirshhorn.

The request, by Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the House subcommittee on memorials, also threatens to shut down construction on the $15-million museum.

Thompson introduced Friday a bill that would rescind the authority granted four years ago by Congress to build the sculpture garden on the grassy mall that sweeps for more than a mile from the Capitol to the banks of the Potomac River.

Since the garden is designed as an inseparable part of the three-story museum, favorable action by Congress on the bill could end the entire project. The museum is rising on the edge of the Mall among other buildings.

Congress granted approval for the project at the request of former President Lyndon B. Johnson after Hirshhorn, a wealthy financier, agreed to donate his collection of 5,000 paintings and 2,000 sculptures to the government. Art critics have described it as the most comprehensive collection of 20th century American paintings in existence.

At hearings conducted last summer, Thompson's subcommittee heard testimony that raised questions about the propriety of some of the terms involved in the acceptance of Hirshhorn's gift. A chief complaint was the erection at public expense of a museum bearing Hirshhorn's name in company with monuments to George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

The agreement between Hirshhorn and the government provides that it shall be "designated and known in perpetuity as the Joseph H. Hirshhorn Museum and Sculpture Garden." It would be across the

Fish Oddity
Brilliantly colored, the tile-fish has an odd, greenish-yellow flesh fin on top of its head. No other fish in North American waters has this type of fin.

Celery was a flavoring and medicine until 1623 when it was first used as a food in France, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Mail from the National Air Gallery, which was a gift of Andrew Mellon.
Thompson said the most serious question raised, and the one his bill is intended to deal with, is the esthetic effect that construction of the sculpture garden would have on the Mall.
Plans call for cutting a 12-foot-deep trench across the Mall and putting a reflecting pool and 50 to 100 pieces of sculpture in it.

Honor Student Who Vanished Six Years Ago Returns Home

WALDRON, Ark. (AP)—Seven years ago, Bruce Cottingham, then 15 and an honor student at Guilford High School in Rockford, Ill., disappeared while traveling from his home at New Milford, Ill., to a debate tournament at Illinois State University.

Now, after six years of odd jobs from New Orleans to Montreal, young Cottingham is living with his family in their new home in Waldron, Ark. After he disappeared, his parents kept up hope that he was alive but just barely. "We were just so shocked when it happened," said his mother, Mrs. Maida Cottingham.

EBENEZER JR.'S AT PASTOR'S HOME

The Ebenezer Junior Youth group met Jan. 26 at the home of Rev. Schroeder. Sheryl Crabtree called the meeting to order and Kathy Hansmeier read minutes and called the roll.

After business Terry Jones gave devotions and Ken Hymes the program. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will also be at the pastor's home with Karen Worthman having devotions and Cindy Feerson the program. Karen Hansmeier will have recreation and David Patterson the refreshments.

"He'd left money in his room and everything ... you can imagine it was a nightmare."

But this fall, a friend located the youth in Montreal. He telephoned and finally came to Arkansas a week after Thanksgiving.

His father, Ralph Cottingham, said, "We never gave up hope, but I didn't really believe he was alive."

Cottingham said his son ran away in 1964 because "he was fed up with school."

He told his family that instead of going to the debating contest, he took a bus to New Orleans where he tried to enlist in the Army but failed to pass the physical because of a polio-caused limp.

He said he had several jobs but decided to move on.

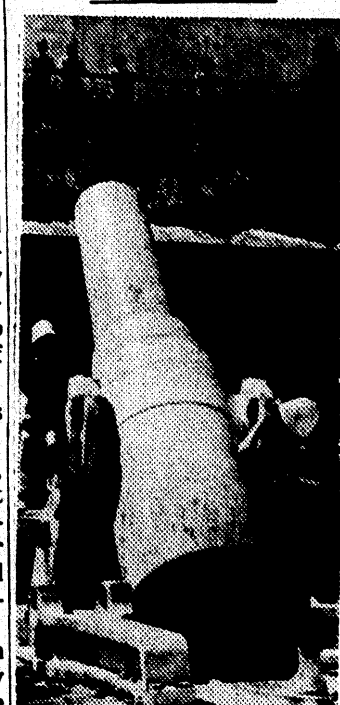

"During the next few years, he traveled over a good part of the United States," Cottingham said. "He sold clothing for one or two years, then sold encyclopedias. That was in California."

As for the details, the youth has said little, but the family has not pressed him. "We're just so glad to have him home," Mrs. Cottingham said.

Now, Mrs. Cottingham said, he's settling in with the family. He's getting reacquainted with his sisters, Janis, 11, and Karen, 14.

She said the youth has yet to make up his mind about future plans but for the moment is working in his father's auto shop.

Do-It-Yourself

Remodel Old Door To Suit Decor Of Modernized Home

By MR. FIX

About all you can find in the lumber yards today are modern "flush" doors. But if you've done any redecorating to give your house a modern look, the old doors may be out of keeping with the new appearance.

You needn't scrap those old panel doors. Convert them. The job is not too difficult and the material will cost less than new doors.

If you are uncertain of yourself, buy enough material to convert one door and see how it works out.

What you will need is a veneer of sorts to cover the old surface. Quarter-inch plywood is available almost anywhere and will serve the purpose. If you plan to paint the door rather than give it a natural finish, save yourself even more money by getting the thinnest hardboard you can find.

Remove the door from the frame. Take off all the hardware. If molding on the door protrudes, remove it. You are working for a perfectly flat surface.

The new surface should be glued to the old. To make a good bond, you should sand the old paint or varnish, removing as much of it as you can.

Large recessed panels should be reinforced with wood strips about three inches wide. They should be just thick enough so that they will be flush with the rails (horizontal sections) and stiles (vertical sections). Screw these in place.

Next you will have to cut the new panel to size. It may be easier to cut the panel about a half-inch larger all around, then trim it after it is in place. This avoids the problem of bad measuring, faulty cutting or doors that are not perfectly square.

Apply the glue to the raised surface of the old door. Press the new panel in place. If you don't have clamps, use one-inch brads a few inches apart to hold the panel in place while the glue dries. Later set the nails and cover with wood filler.

Use a fine-tooth saw to trim. Sand the edges. If the plywood has splintered, fill with wood filler and sand. Use screws instead of nails on hardwood panels and countersink the heads.

After finishing the door with varnish or paint, put back the hardware or replace it with new. Use the latch holes on the side of the door as a guide for drilling new holes for hardware. Since the door is thicker than it was, some adjustments are needed. Move the door stop the new position by closing the door. The hinge leaf on the door closing side. Remove carefully with a chisel and determine by the same amount.

'There's More To War Than Killing'

Vietnamese Orphans Benefit From GI's Concern

PROJECT SMILE—Organizer Army Sgt. Richard S. McAllister distributes candy as a bonus for Vietnamese orphans who were the beneficiaries of a clothing drive.

SYRACUSE, N.Y.—(NEA) — Army Sgt. Richard S. McAllister says that even before he went to Vietnam he had decided "there's more to war than killing the enemy and I wanted to do something a little extra." Thanks to that something extra, 107 South Vietnamese orphans have something they needed badly — new clothes.

McAllister, 25, who recently returned home on leave to Matytale, N. Y. (a Syracuse suburb) and is now assigned to Ft. Jackson, S.C., learned about the Tumau orphanage while serving as an infantryman with the 101st Airborne Division. The orphanage, run by seven Roman Catholic nuns, is home for the 107 children, aged 2 to 11, most of whom lost their parents in the North Vietnamese-Viet Cong 1968 Tet offensive that hit especially hard in nearby Hue.

When he found out about the orphans' plight, McAllister says: "I wrote to my wife, Sandy, that something had to be done for the kids over there. She asked the students at Roxboro Middle School in Matytale, where she is a teacher, if they wanted to help. The answer was an overwhelming 'yes' and they set up a local clothing collection campaign that resulted in many large clothing packages."

McAllister then contacted his pre-Army employer, the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, and Equitable suggested that each of its 50 national field offices organize a clothing drive for McAllister's campaign, which he named "Project Smile."

By Christmas, McAllister had received several dozen clothing packages from all over the country. At least 50 more had been promised to the 101st Airborne GIs who took over the program after McAllister left and have interested their friends and families at home in helping the orphanage.

The South Vietnamese government gives the orphanage 30 cents a month for subsistence for each child and McAllister says that "from the looks of the kids and the place they live in, they could use about $30 a month per child."

"I can assure you that those clothes were received with a lot of thanks—and a lot of smiles," he adds. "If you could just have seen those kids' faces . . ."

Worst Unemployment In Decade Hits Nation's Best Educated Workers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many of the nation's best-educated workers — engineers, scientists and technicians — are among the hardest hit in the worst unemployment in nearly a decade.

"It's a crisis for professionals," says the AFL-CIO Council for Scientific, Professional and Cultural Employees (SPACE). "Frayed white collars" is the term used by the Office and Professional Employees International.

President Nixon says it's a temporary job crunch due to switching economic emphasis from a war-based economy to peacetime products, and predicts things will soon begin to get better.

"We'll believe it when we see it," replies A. D. Stewart, who runs a nationwide job agency for high-priced white-collar professionals. "My office is loaded with literally hundreds of resumes of professionals, engineers and electronic experts," said Stewart, whose suburban Maryland office handles job applications for the Washington area and nationwide. He says it's harder to find jobs for such clients than ever before.

The job squeeze among professionals and technicians is part of an over-all unemployment problem among all white-collar workers whose jobless rate has nearly doubled in the past year to 3.7 per cent or 1,213,000 persons. It's highest since the Labor Department began keeping records, on white-collar workers 12 years ago.

The current plight of white-collar workers is worse than in the last major recession of 1958, when their jobless rate climbed from 2.5 to 3.6 per cent, or about one million workers. That recession hit blue-collar workers much harder, pushing their jobless rate from 8.3 to 12.1 per cent or a total of about 3.1 million workers.

"Never in the 25 years since World War II have there been so many thousands of engineers, scientists and technicians out of jobs and so many in danger of being unemployed," said the AFL-CIO SPACE Council.

Actually, the unemployment situation for professionals, technicians and white-collar workers generally isn't much worse than that for blue-collar factory and service workers, including skilled craftsmen and foremen. They're just not as used to it.

Total blue-collar unemployment is up about 80 per cent in the past year to 7.7 per cent and a total of 2,282,000 workers, including a more than 100-per cent jump for craftsmen and foremen.

Labor Department officials assign much of the unemployment among engineers and technicians to the slowed federal aerospace program, including spacecraft and military aircraft. Airlines, suffering a business slump, have added to the situation by buying fewer commercial planes.

The effects have rippled all the way back to money-starved research-and-development programs in universities and private companies that have had to lay off many scientific personnel.

In all, the nation's unemployment rate climbed some 75 per cent last year from 3.5 to 6 per cent of the civilian work force and from a total of 2,628,000 workers to 4,636,000, the Labor Department said.

Many federal programs provide at least some help to retrain blue-collar workers, but there are few such chances for professionals and technicians.

The Labor Department has appealed to defense contractors to list scarce job openings with the government's new computerized job banks to match the unemployed with jobs, and has started a national registry to help 30,000 unemployed engineers.

The backed-up job applications from experienced professionals also are crimping career chances of new college graduates seeking their first positions.

"Recruitment activity is at its slowest pace in several decades," said the College Placement Council of Bethlehem, Pa., which surveys industry job hunts on campuses of 140 colleges and universities.

22 Jacksonville Journal, Jacksonville, Ill., Feb. 2, 1971
22 Jacksonville Courier, Jacksonville, Ill., Feb. 2, 1971

"Numerous employers reported that, although they were conducting campus interviews, they were delaying offers until later in the recruiting year when they hope to have a clearer picture of their needs," the college council said.

Stewart says his Career Guidance Service can find jobs for college graduates in the top 15 per cent of their class, "but if they're down near average, it's tough."

The missing quotient in the American manpower picture," Stewart said, is "to produce people with post-high school education but less than masters' degrees who meet technical and vocational requirements."

"We tend to push people into degree programs of highly theo-

Winter Ideal Time To Build New Home

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Winter is the ideal time to plan to build a new home. But before you commit yourself to architect or contractor, consider whether it may be more advantageous to buy a house.

In these days of high interest mortgages, many home owners have had to make money concessions to unload their homes. Many houses were priced to make a good profit, and owners can shave the price to sell quickly. In addition, many are willing to assume the mortgage. And some houses are being advertised with rent-with-option-to-buy privileges.

One advantage of the ready-made house is that you can look at it and see what you are getting. If you build, and the house does not live up to your expectations, you usually are stuck with it.

In building a house, there are many real decisions to make, especially if you act as your own contractor. And you may not get a dream house in the end.

Most women fill a fat scrapbook with their house dreams—furniture, fabrics, appliances, colors—dawning over ideas which are really the fluff after a good house has been planned.

It is not enough to decide you want a room 16 by 24 feet, you must decide where windows, staircase, doors will be put and their relation to furniture. In a finished house, you can see these things in a proper perspective, but it is difficult for women to assess such ideas on paper.

Because women are interested in details, men often earmark a good deal of the house planning to them. This is to avoid the why-didn't-you-do complaints after a job is finished.

For example, one woman carefully planned a nine-room house with a sauna in one bathroom and built-in vanity niches in the bedrooms, but she had forgotten to earmark closets for the rooms. Fortunately, the plan was going to an architect for professional treatment.

There is a good deal to be saved in doing your own contracting when you are building a house. And this drives many people to attempt it, although the exhausting job is not always worth the saving.

Planning may be the least problem one faces. One may be over the hurdle of what is needed and where it is needed, but individual contractors must be found to do the work.

Building has slackened off in most areas, but most neophyte contractors face the problem of waiting for each workman to do his bit. One may wait a month for the only good floor man available. And if a plumber is tied up on a big job, you might wait months to get him. An experienced contractor usually can keep the work moving by long-range planning.

Supervising the building of a new house will take a lot out of a person, even if one enlists professional help and a general contractor. One must keep tabs by visiting the project at crucial stages. Once the green tile is put in the purple bedroom's bath, the mistake may be impossible to rectify even if you recuperate from the shock.

It may be well worthwhile to look at houses that are available before you leap into building one. In addition to the painless acquisitions, you may get more house for your money.

SERVE 150 SOUP AT GREENFIELD

GREENFIELD — Approximately 150 were served at the annual Soup Supper served by the Come Double class of the United Methodist church Sunday school Jan. 27.

Proceeds will go into the project fund of the class.

A Lay Witness Mission is being planned by the members of Greenfield United Methodist church March 5, 6, and 7. Twenty committee chairmen met at the church the night of Jan. 25 to make plans.

Robert Morrow and Mrs. Don Masters, co-chairmen, announced that Ray Kelliker of Blue Springs, Mo., has agreed to be co-ordinator of the mission. Mrs. Roy Owens reported her committee has completed plans for 15 coffee sessions to be held in homes around the community. Lonnie Tudor announced prayer sessions and a prayer vigil are being planned.

Members of the Martha Sunday School Class went to Rockbridge to aid in serving meals during their Lay Witness Mission Jan. 22, 23, and 24 and the ladies of the Rockbridge church have offered to come to the Greenfield Mission and help.

Reither On Beardstown

BEARDSTOWN — Three Beardstown fugitives have been returned to this city after being captured in a stolen car at Fairfield, Iowa.

The vehicle owned by Jack Painter was stolen from a parking spot near Second and Jefferson streets about 9 p.m. Thursday, and local police relayed a message to Springfield for broadcast.

The result was the capture after a wild chase at Fairfield.

Police said Dennis Lyles, Melvin Robbins and a "juvenile" were nabbed and the car was recovered.

Man Stabbed

Floyd Taylor was stabbed in the abdomen and treated at the local hospital Thursday night.

Police said they were called to the Taylor home, 1101 Beard street and found the local man had been cut — he was released from the hospital after treatment.

Authorities gave no other details.

School Board

The School board here has tabled a suggestion that restrictions be placed on the number of Spring sports in which an athlete may participate.

The discussion occurred at the board meeting Thursday. Bids are being accepted on a new 73 passenger bus for the coming term.

Superintendent Darnell reported on the Junior College Feasibility meeting he attended. The Sports Committee was given power to act on taking three new schools into the Spoon River Conference.

Township Supervisor

A. C. (Todd) Schuetter of this city has filed his petitions as a candidate for re-election as Beardstown township supervisor.

The election will be April 6, and Schuetter, who has been county treasurer and held other county offices will run on the Independent ticket.

Republicans and Democrats are to caucus soon to study slates for the township voting.

Announcer Transferred

Niles Seaberg, an announcer at the Beardstown Radio Station WRMS, is to be transferred to another of the Sudbrink chain of stations. He will report February 1 to WZIP Cincinnati.

He started his career in his hometown, Burlington, Iowa and came here in February of 1968.

His wife and two children will join him when suitable housing is obtained.

Morry Lehmkuhl will take on the duties of Seaberg as music director of the local station, in addition to his present duties as announcer and sport ace.

County Clerk

Motions to dismiss charges against Gus Carls, Cass county clerk, are expected to be filed

next month.

The veteran Democratic county official has been indicted on 16 counts involving alleged misconduct in the handling of absentee ballots in the November election.

State's Attorney Walter Farrand said none of the election results would have been changed regardless of the handling of the absentee ballots.

The indictments were returned under the criminal code and not the election code, Farrand said, and if found guilty Carls could lose his office and would be subject to fines and imprisonment.

Glen Colburn of Virginia, former state's attorney in Cass county, represents Clerk Carls.

Records System

A new records system which the county of Cass has been among the first in the state to adopt in connection with legal records was discussed at a meeting in the courthouse in Virginia Friday.

Twenty-five court clerks and other court officials were present.

A dinner was served for the group at the Virginia Country Club.

Citizenship Day

Beardstown Scout officials now are making preparations for the annual citizenship observance, February 18.

Many Beardstown businessmen and others in public office will be hosts for the day in their offices or stores showing the Scouts "how things work."

A luncheon will be served at noon and there will be a short program.

Announcements as to which Scouts will be serving as mayor, chief of police, street commissioner, fire chief, bank president, postmaster, supervisor etc, have yet to be made.

Missouri Synod Leader Urges Crusade For U.S. Prisoners

The Reverend Dr. J. A. O. Preus, international president of the 3-million-member Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod, has issued an appeal for other religious leaders around the world to join him in a modern "crusade"—a visit to Hanoi and to other Communist leaders to intercede on behalf of American prisoners of war being held by North Vietnam, the Viet Cong, and the Pathet Lao.

This appeal was a part of a five-point program announced by Dr. Preus at a press conference held at the ROA building, 1 Constitution Ave., N.E., in Washington, D.C., Monday, aimed at procuring humane treatment of U.S. prisoners of war.

Dr. Preus was flanked at the press conference by Colonel Norris M. Overly, one of the first POWs released by North Vietnam; Major James N. Rowe, who escaped from the Viet Cong after almost six years of captivity; Mrs. Bobby G. Vinson, whose husband is missing in action; and Mrs. Kevin J. McManus, whose husband is a POW in North Vietnam.

In a prepared statement Dr. Preus acknowledged that he, like most other church leaders, had been so busy with parochial concerns that he had neglected to speak out on vital moral issues facing our nation and "humanitarian" concerns all over the world.

"It is for this reason that I have chosen to become involved in an effort to do what I can to help obtain humanitarian treatment for American prisoners of war in southeast Asia and ultimately to hasten their release," the Lutheran president stated.

Dr. Preus pointed out in his statement that the "Vietnamese are an old and proud people who for 2,500 years have placed great importance on the family structure and have followed religious principles which recognize human compassion and humanitarian principles." The church leader also pointed to the Declaration of Independence of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, written in 1945 by Ho Chi Minh, which borrows the opening words of our own Declaration of Independence and states that every human being has basic rights from birth. "By any failure to grant full humane treatment to POWs the Vietnamese Communists are denying their own heritage," Dr. Preus stated.

The Lutheran church president insisted that the Geneva Convention of 1949 concerning humanitarian treatment of prisoners of war should be followed to the letter "not only because it is a recognized legal agreement between nations but because it contains the most basic provisions of humanitarian behavior that must be respected by civilized nations."

"Losing prisoners promptly," he continued, "releasing the sick and the wounded, humanitarian treatment of the prisoners (such as allowing them to correspond with loved ones at home on a regular basis) are very uncomplicated principles that could easily be followed by civilized nations."

The churchman pointed out that his concern, like his training, was pastoral rather than legal or philosophical. "I feel a compassion for any of our men who are suffering cruel and unreasonable treatment in POW camps," Dr. Preus said. "I know something of the anxiety and the heartaches experienced by the wives, the sons and the daughters, and the parents of the men who are missing in action, because they don't even know if their husband, father, or son is dead or alive."

Dr. Preus stated further that the realization that some of our men have been POWs for over six years, that evidence pointing to the conclusion that many of them have been in solitary confinement during their entire captivity, and that some men have been listed as missing in action for as long as six and one-half years are facts that are "very difficult for a compassionate nation" such as ours to accept.

Dr. Preus outlined a five-point program he intends to follow:

1. He is declaring a Day of Prayer for American POWs and MIAs on Sunday, March 14, in the 6,000 congregations under his presidency.

2. He is directing a sustaining program of education and prayer in all of the congregations of The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod in behalf of the American POWs and MIAs for a one-year period.

3. He is inviting the heads of all major Christian denominations to undertake a similar program in their congregations and urging religious radio and TV programs to include special prayers for the POWs and MIAs.

4. He is urging all Lutheran leaders in all the countries of the world who accept the Geneva Convention of 1949 to use their influence to bring public opinion in their countries and in their governments to bear on the Communists in Indo-China in order that they may be moved to follow the humanitarian treatment of prisoners of war as stated in the Geneva Convention of 1949.

5. He is endeavoring to organize a group of church leaders from all over the world to ask the president of North Vietnam and other Communist leaders to allow them to inspect the POW camps in order to give an unbiased account to the American people and the people of the world of the conditions that exist in these camps.

Dr. Preus said that he felt that "these Communist leaders would be hard pressed to deny permission for a visit from a group of religious leaders with completely altruistic motives."

Scott Benefit For Heart Fund Nets Over $70

By Mrs. James Cox
(Winchester Correspondent)
(Telephone 742-3517)

WINCHESTER — Members of the Scott County 4-H Clubs played a Heart Fund basketball game benefit Thursday evening at the Winchester Grade school.

The chairman for the benefit was Kim Scott who did a fine job in planning the event. He was assisted by co-chairmen Mrs. Ellis Wade Sr. and Mrs. Bob Wisdom. They announced that over $70 has been realized from the benefit.

The girls teams were cheered to victory by a team of beautiful cheerleaders consisting of Joe Kimble, Lloyd Jones, John Passavage, Don Gourley, Gary Watkins, Gary Collard and Bob Dawdy.

A cake raffle was held during the evening and was awarded to Jimmy Arbuckle.

In charge of the refreshment stand was Mrs. Jay Eddinger, Mrs. Bob Wisdom, Mrs. Macel Evans, and Mrs. Ellis Wade Sr.

The chairmen would like to thank everyone who helped and participated in any way to make this benefit a success.

Scout Committee Meeting. Members of the Cub Scout Committee will meet Thursday evening, at 7 p.m. at the First Baptist church.

The final plans for the upcoming Blue and Gold Banquet to be held February 21 will be made.

Feeding House Fire Destroys Ninety Hogs

Ninety hogs were killed and several injured when fire destroyed a hog feeding house on the Cecil Folles farm three miles northwest of Carrollton Monday morning.

The fire spread quickly through the wood and tin building. The Carrollton fire department was not able to stop the fire when they arrived.

Several bushels of corn stored in the building were also lost.

The fire may have been caused by a short circuited electric heater.

Mrs. Camerer Dies In Scott; Rites Wednesday

January Colder, Drier Than Usual

As you have probably already guessed, January was colder than usual in the Jacksonville area. Statistics released Monday at the WLDS Cooperative Weather Station show that the average temperature last month was 22.7 degrees — seven degrees below the long-term average.

However the January 1971 average was over two degrees above the January average a year ago.

The low temperature for the month, one degree, was reached five times. The high of 56 degrees was recorded last Friday.

The precipitation total .53 inches, lower than the two-inch average for January. Most of the precipitation was in the form of the six and a half inches of snow that fell last month.

TRAIN HITS CAR—Nellie De Voy, 64, of 1212 South Clay St., was injured Monday at 2:10 p.m. when her car skidded into a railroad crossing and was struck by a train. De Voy was listed in "satisfactory" condition at Passavant Hospital Monday night where she is being treated for head injuries. The westbound train was traveling about 20 miles per hour when it hit the northbound auto. The heavily damaged auto is shown above after the mishap. Mrs. DeVoy said the ice and snow on the pavement hampered her efforts to stop the car. (Photo by Ron Cox)

John Agger, Past JHS Principal, Dies

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla. — S. John Agger, former resident who made his home at 848 Grove Court, died suddenly Monday morning here.

He was born in Cincinnati, Ohio Feb. 17, 1898 son of Seneca H. and Clara Ahlers Agger. He married Alice Hand Dec. 23, 1922 in Ft. Wayne, Ind.

S. John Agger

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Carroll (Elizabeth) Newingham of Waverly and two sisters, Mrs. Winthrop Kellogg of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and Mrs. Daniel Metzger of Indianapolis, Ind.

Mr. Agger graduated from Indiana University in 1922 and began his teaching career at Jacksonville High school. He was a coach as well as a teacher in the physics department during his first years at JHS. He later advanced to assistant principal under James Mutch, principal at that time. In the fall of 1942, Mr. Agger became principal and held that position until the spring of 1962 when he retired.

Mr. Agger was also active in civic affairs, serving for a number of years on the Jacksonville park board. He was a member of the Congregational church and a former member of the Jacksonville Kiwanis Club.

The remains are to be brought to the Cody and Son Memorial Home where funeral arrangements are pending.

Ecumenism Berated By Baptist Minister

The Rev. Charles Puckett, pastor of Westfair Baptist church, said Sunday that he was "serving notice that this church will never be part of the ecumenical movement."

Rev. Puckett said the church's top priority is not to reunite but to "preach the word of Christ." Reunification, he indicated, can be classified with church involvement in civil rights.

"It is not God's plea to correct social ills. We ought to have a social conscience. A Christian ought to be fair and honest but not march up demonstrations."

Attacking a dialogue sermon for a reunified church by the Rev. Donald Batz, of the Centenary United Methodist church, and Monsignor Michael O. Driscoll, of Our Saviour's church, Rev. Puckett called ecumenism satanic in inspiration, and labeled leaders of the movement "false prophets."

"The Bible says how can two walk together when they believe differently," Rev. Puckett said. "If we are asked to get together with those that don't believe the word of Christ then we are admonished by the Bible not to go with them."

He said he too feels there is a Biblical mandate for one church, but the church must act on the Word of God found only in the Bible.

He hailed theologians as corrupters of the Biblical Word and said, "Any man who wants to know the truth will find it in the Bible. If a man is sound he can know the truth of God. Those relying on men to lead them are mostly misled like the blind leading the blind."

He called himself a "Western Union messenger" proclaiming the word of God and told his audience they should consult the Bible "to see if what I'm saying isn't right."

He said the only kind of church of all persuasions the Bible acknowledges is one ruled by Satan.

"The Bible says put those out of the assembly who are walking disorderly," Rev. Puckett said. "How then can we truly believe that we should go out and walk with the disorderly?"

"Most of the churches are not preaching the truth," he charged. "Mr. Batz doesn't believe these things, doesn't accept the Bible as final rule and practice."

"Some might say I'm being unkind," he said. "I'm being exceedingly kind about telling the community the truth."

Hospital Notes

James Monroe of Roodhouse is a patient in Passavant hospital; and Mrs. Anna Roe, who has been confined to Norris, is now at Passavant awaiting surgery. Frank Smock, former Roodhouse man and brother of Russell Smock of Roodhouse, is a surgical patient at Missouri Pacific hospital in St. Louis.

Claude Vestel, Murrayville route one, is a surgical patient at Passavant hospital.

Mrs. Jerry (Mary Ruth) McArthur of Jacksonville is a patient at Norris hospital.

These units would be scattered throughout the city. A family forced to leave a condemned house would be relocated in the same neighborhood.

Alderman Dale Brown (6th Ward) said he would oppose any plan that would create additional rental units for low income families that was administered by the Morgan County Housing Authority.

"We have no jurisdiction over what we have here now. To me, this is pathetic," he said. "The Morgan County Housing Authority has not shaped up its responsibility. I don't think we should put any more rental units under their jurisdiction," he added.

Brown said he would not oppose a plan in which the units would be sold to the occupants.

Three new members were appointed to the Citizen's Advisory Group with the approval of the council. They are Mark Chenoweth of Andrew's Lumber Co., Ken Allison of Meyers Industries and Max Roegge of the First National Bank.

Gray said the main job of his committee — to find the need for low income housing and report it to the council — as spelled out by HUD was completed.

The council approved payment of $55,416.60 to Ingram Electric for the 1967 electrical substation project over the dissenting vote of Alderman Charles Quinn (6th Ward).

Quinn said he thought the matter hadn't received proper study. This led to brief argument with Alderman Jimmie Fernandes (1st Ward).

Fernandes said special attorney Orville Foreman and Utilities Supt. Robert Jameson had studied the project and their approval should be sufficient grounds for authorizing payment.

Fernandes said he had received several calls from persons complaining of dangerous driving conditions on North Westfair between Lafayette and Walnut.

Fernandes said reflectors would be placed near culverts along that street and that street lights may be placed along that section of North Westfair.

He said the street lights could be installed by the City Light and Power Co. at no cost to the city.

Pass Plumbing Code; Low Income Housing Discussed By Council

The Jacksonville City Council Monday passed a new city plumbing ordinance and discussed low income housing needs in the city.

The plumbing ordinance adopted by the city is the same as the plumbing code of the State of Illinois. Revision of the plumbing code was a condition of the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development for approval of the city's workable program.

Mayor Lahey asked the aldermen to approve a resolution authorizing the Morgan County Housing Authority to apply for 150 units of low income housing for Jacksonville.

Lahey's request came after a meeting between the Citizen's Advisory Committee on housing and the city council at 7 p.m.

Ron Gray, chairman of the committee, presented the findings of the advisory group's survey of housing needs in Jacksonville. Gray said that 150 units of housing for low income families were needed.

Alderman Cornell Kane (6th Ward) said he was not prepared to vote on the resolution since he first heard of the matter at 5:30 p.m. Monday. Following other discussion, the motion was tabled.

Aldermen Larry Evans (3rd Ward) and Charles Quinn (6th Ward) voted against the motion to table.

If the resolution is later passed, the Morgan County Housing Authority would apply to HUD for the 150 low income housing units. The housing authority could also work with Operation Upgrade Community Housing (OUCH), a group formed by local church leaders.

These units would be scattered throughout the city. A family forced to leave a condemned house would be relocated in the same neighborhood.

Alderman Dale Brown (6th Ward) said he would oppose any plan that would create additional rental units for low income families that was administered by the Morgan County Housing Authority.

"We have no jurisdiction over what we have here now. To me, this is pathetic," he said. "The Morgan County Housing Authority has not shaped up its responsibility. I don't think we should put any more rental units under their jurisdiction," he added.

Brown said he would not oppose a plan in which the units would be sold to the occupants.

Three new members were appointed to the Citizen's Advisory Group with the approval of the council. They are Mark Chenoweth of Andrew's Lumber Co., Ken Allison of Meyers Industries and Max Roegge of the First National Bank.

Gray said the main job of his committee — to find the need for low income housing and report it to the council — as spelled out by HUD was completed.

The council approved payment of $55,416.60 to Ingram Electric for the 1967 electrical substation project over the dissenting vote of Alderman Charles Quinn (6th Ward).

Quinn said he thought the matter hadn't received proper study. This led to brief argument with Alderman Jimmie Fernandes (1st Ward).

Fernandes said special attorney Orville Foreman and Utilities Supt. Robert Jameson had studied the project and their approval should be sufficient grounds for authorizing payment.

Fernandes said he had received several calls from persons complaining of dangerous driving conditions on North Westfair between Lafayette and Walnut.

Fernandes said reflectors would be placed near culverts along that street and that street lights may be placed along that section of North Westfair.

He said the street lights could be installed by the City Light and Power Co. at no cost to the city.

Chicago Mother Gets Legal Abortion

CHICAGO (AP) — A young mother with two toddlers in diapers underwent the first publicized legal abortion in Illinois Monday since a federal court ruling declared the state's century-old abortion law unconstitutional.

But the decision Friday of a panel of three federal judges was far from final as opponents of the ruling prepared for legal battle.

The Cook County (Chicago) state's attorney announced plans to appeal the ruling to the U.S. Supreme Court, which already is considering the constitutionality of abortion laws in Wisconsin, Georgia, Texas, California and the District of Columbia.

A group of Illinois legislators also disclosed it is studying legislation which would circumvent the judges' ruling by extending the constitutional rights of state citizens to the unborn fetus.

About 50 persons, mainly mothers and medical students marched for an hour in bitter cold at Grant Hospital, where the abortion was performed, to protest the judge's ruling.

Hospital officials said the patient, a 23-year-old married woman, was in satisfactory condition after the operation. She was six weeks pregnant.

The woman called a news conference after the operation because she said she wanted to tell other women that abortion "is not that bad — it's not that mind-blowing."

She said she had no qualms about her decision. "I didn't even consider it a pregnancy," she told newsmen. "It was just something that had to be taken care of."

She described herself as "a mother who doesn't want any more diapers."

The abortion was performed by Dr. Marvin Rosner, chairman of the hospital's obstetrics and gynecology department, who delivered the woman's youngest child 4½ months ago. Dr. Rosner, who said a formal hospital policy on abortions would be set at a meeting Tuesday, predicted the federal ruling would lead to as many as 50,000 legal abortions a year in Illinois. He said this would not lead to hospital overcrowding.

Chicago Lying-In Hospital is the only other in Chicago to announce publicly its intent to allow its doctors to perform abortions. Other hospitals, including Cook County which treats a large number of welfare patients, said they will await legal clarification.

Lying-In said it is preparing plans for performing abortions "on a semi-ambulatory out-patient basis." These would be limited to women pregnant fewer than 10 weeks. Women more than 10 weeks pregnant would be treated as conventional in-patients, the hospital said.

Illinois' 97-year-old statute permits abortion only when necessary for preservation of a woman's life. This is the law that the federal panel termed unconstitutional.

In their 2-1 decision, the federal judges said any woman in Illinois can receive an abortion for whatever reason from a licensed physician in a licensed hospital within the first three months of pregnancy.

They declared the Illinois abortion law unconstitutional on the grounds that it is vague and infringes on a woman's right to privacy.

Unified Dollar Day In City Wednesday

It's Dollar Day everywhere in Jacksonville Wednesday, for the first time in history. Downtown, shopping center and other merchants in Jacksonville have combined to promote a single dollar day on Wednesday. Most of the special bargains are listed in advertisements in this edition of the newspaper.

Several thousand shoppers are expected to be on hand for the gigantic bargains as the doors to business houses open Wednesday morning.

Downtown the parking's free. The Jacksonville City Council honored a request by the Downtown Jacksonville Associated Merchants declaring Wednesday as "free parking" day in the city. All metered spaces will be free parking for the day, courtesy of the city council.

Parking will be free within walking distance of every business establishment in the city of Jacksonville, including the discounters and the shopping center.

The unified action by Jacksonville Area Chamber of Commerce members was promoted as an aid to busy shoppers in the trade area. Every store will make a concerted effort to provide the kind and type of merchandise sought by the wise shoppers.

Read the ads and visit the stores. There's something for every shopping need.

Driver Injured On Route 123

A Jacksonville man suffered minor injuries Monday morning when he lost control of his pickup truck on Route 123, about four miles south of Prentice.

Timothy Murphy 71, of Baldwin Rd., was northbound on Route 123 when his pickup truck skidded into a ditch and hit a utility pole.

Murphy said he would see a doctor later for treatment of his injuries.

Damage to the truck was estimated at $950; damage to the pole was estimated at $300. Murphy was ticketed for driving too fast for conditions.

Cars Collide On Woodland

City police investigated an accident at 802 a.m. Monday at the intersection of Woodland and West College.

A car driven by Carol D. Lewis of 1541 Mound was struck from the rear by a second auto driven by John Todd of 302 W. Beecher. Todd told investigating city police that his car skidded on the slippery street. Both vehicles were northbound.

Mr. Lewis was slightly injured but did not require immediate hospital treatment.

Both cars left the scene under their own power.

BATTERY STOLEN FROM AUTOMOBILE

Charters H. Anderson of 1018 Grove complained to city police officers Monday afternoon that his battery was stolen Sunday night. The car was parked in front of his house at the time of the theft.

Concerned Officer Movement Lacks Direction

By TOM TIEDE
WASHINGTON (NEA)—It is becoming increasingly obvious that the Armed Forces of the United States are suffering something of a revolution from within.

First there was the formation of the American Servicemen's Union, with the call to abolish saluting and hold elections of everybody above the rank of sergeant. Then there was the eroding of ancient disciplines, such as bristle-short haircuts and bed checks. Now it seems to have all come together in the form of countless intra-service organizations which are forming to do everything from end the Vietnam war to demand more toilets in battleships.

There is Vietnam Veterans against the War, the Winter Soldier Investigation, the National Guard Troops for Sanity and the Concerned Officer Movement, to name just a few.

Old line military men detest them. "They are trying to destroy us," says one traditionalist in the Pentagon. "They hold their little meetings now and then, smoke pot and talk about sabotaging the national defense."

The opinion, as a blanket indictment, seems unnecessarily harsh. Some intraservice groups may indeed have nasty motivations—but not all, not hardly. Take the Concerned Officer Movement (COM) as example. It met the other night here in Washington. And there wasn't a word of meaningful sabotage brought up. In fact, there wasn't a word of meaningful anything brought up.

The group, which claims 600 members nationwide (25 in Vietnam), was originated a year ago by a Marine lieutenant. Most members are junior grade, 50 per cent are naval. The highest ranking supporter is a Navy captain in San Diego, whose donations do not include the free use of his name. In sum, the COM is small, serious, sincere—but probably will never ever plant dynamite in officer country.

The meeting was scheduled to begin at 8 sharp, which turned out to be a quarter to 9. Thirty-five hard-core members were supposed to show up, which turned out to be nine, plus five girls, two of whom nobody knew ("Say, the one's got nice hair, hasn't she?"). The session was not called to order, for there are no officers among the officers. It started instead when everybody stopped talking.

To summarize the proceedings:

By and large the group was a pleasant and easy-going bunch. Their only outward desire to radicalism was an individual desire to remain anonymous—"I believe in this group, but I don't want my name in the paper. No sense asking for trouble."

One who did not decline publicity, and so acted as the organization's spokesman, was Navy Lt. (j.g.) Peter Dunkleberger. He's a married, bearded, programs planner from Muskogee, Okla., where according to the song nobody smokes pot or opposes war. Except Lt. Dunkleberger. But even he has enough of Muskogee in him to temper his philosophy to the point where, as a radical, he makes a good naval lieutenant.

Says he: "Our group isn't out to destroy the military. I personally believe that we have to have a viable national defense. What we are after is reform. We want out of Vietnam, we want less control over our lives by the Pentagon and we want to close the gap between officers and men. I feel very strongly about the last point. I can't see how the Navy or the Army can survive, treating their enlisted people as peons. I think the nation deserves a better system than this."

Almost everybody at the COM meeting gave opinions equally sincere—and formlessly general. They are, in essence, a few sensitive human beings gathering for the pleasure of mutual opinion. As one of them says: "I really don't think we're going to change the military much, but we can at least dream. Say, where did that girl with the nice hair go anyway?"

GREENFIELD WSCS BOARD PREPARES REPORT OF 1971

Lt. (j.g.) Peter Dunkleberger

One lieutenant from Ft. Meade announced he was being discharged the next day as a conscientious objector. A naval man told of his experiences starting an underbarracks newspaper in, of all places, Iceland. Somebody whose rank was unknown spilled soda pop on his corduroy pants. There was an argument over whether the military was trying to quash the organization. The girl with the nice hair wondered where the telephone was. The conscientious objector announced that the group now had branches in all four service academies. Another Navy chap made a face when he talked about a ship he visited which had only two urinals for 35 chief petty officers. And the editor of the group periodical ("Common Sense") pleaded with everybody to get their articles in by the weekend.

Sabotage? Pot smoking? There was none of it.

GREENFIELD — Mrs. Viola Stout, Mrs. Junior Riggs, Mrs. Fred Masters, Mrs. Ebert Ferguson, Mrs. Mary Hobson, Mrs. Don Masters, and Mrs. Dean Bishop met with the president of the Greenfield WSCS, Mrs. Roy Hettick, in an executive session Tuesday, Jan. 26, to complete their statistical evaluation report.

The group evaluated the accomplishments of the local society for 1970 and voted to recommend several projects for 1971.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Greenfield United Methodist church is planning a bake sale Feb. 6 from 9 a.m. to noon at the Cole Chevrolet garage. At the regular MYF meeting Feb. 3 at 7:30 p.m. Dr. James Reid will give a talk on health and prefers to speak to young people only.
